Senate President Pro Tem Peter Kinder

Opening Address

Second Regular Session, Ninety-Second Missouri General Assembly

January 7, 2004

Ladies and gentlemen, friends and family, distinguished guests, Lt. Gov. Maxwell and the members of the Missouri Senate;

Today it is my privilege to welcome you as we convene the Second Regular Session of the Ninety-Second Missouri General Assembly.

The opening of any legislative session is an important event. Each session is different. Each is special. This session is remarkably so. Eleven years ago, when I was first sworn in to this body, the Senate was composed of lawmakers with decades of experience.

Today, we begin the last session in which these veteran lawmakers -- some with 40 years of legislative experience -- will be with us. Rest assured that we will ask much of you -- and your knowledge and experience -- as we work to best serve the citizens we represent.

Today, we also welcome a new member to our chamber, the Senator from the 11th District. Senator, we are delighted that you have joined our family. This is a special place, and serving here is a special privilege. We are glad you are with us, and we stand ready to help you and the citizens of the 11th District you represent here.

The past seven months have also seen great sadness visited on the Senate family, as we lost three of our great members. First was incumbent Ronnie DePasco, whom we lost in June. The months that followed saw the sudden deaths of former Sen. J. B. "Jet" Banks and Sen. Danny Staples. In these three beloved members, I count a former majority floor leader, an assistant majority floor leader and a bona fide majority character. All three were cherished, as each made major contributions, and each will be sorely missed.

In the same way each legislative session is special, so too, this Senate is special. Each branch of government, each legislative chamber, plays a unique role in our system of government. I -- like many of you -- place great stock in the rich heritage and traditions of the Missouri Senate. It is like no other legislative body. Perhaps our most essential tradition -- that of working together as Senators -- serves our citizens and this state especially well.

It is in this way that we have -- and always shall -- place our citizens first; first before politics, first before individual interests, first before special interests.

Like any family, we have our differences. Honest, reasonable people can differ, and will, often vigorously. Yet only unreasonable people reject civility as we work through these differences. Here, let us strive to maintain this tradition to truly serve the best interests of everyone.

The great English writer John Donne shared with us that "No man is an island unto himself." Nor, I might add, does a single legislative body constitute a government.

Today, as our session begins, let us renew our commitment to work with the House of Representatives, the state departments, and our Governor in a spirit of bipartisan cooperation.

Although we may be from different areas, different backgrounds and different political parties, we are all Missourians. Let us work together as Missourians in a way that puts the people of Missouri ahead of the politics of Missouri -- and of the United States.

I pledge cooperation with the Governor on proposals based on principle, sound financial policy and the best interests of the citizens.

I am confident that the House of Representatives and the Governor will join us in working to assure that placing the people ahead of politics is a principle that stands above compromise.

As we convene today, great challenges lie before us. Our foremost challenge, I believe, is assuring our state is guided in the right direction -- that we are moving forward on the right track.

As citizens, do we ourselves believe Missouri is on the right track by gaining 7,000 jobs, but losing 77,000 jobs?

Are citizens reassured when school budgets are cut while millions are spent on bathroom renovations in the Capitol -- over our objections?

Do citizens find comfort in paying fuel taxes for abandoned road projects or to drive over crumbling highways while we divert that fuel tax money to other departments of state government?

Does a company trying to bring in hundreds of new jobs find any reason why their permits are subject to endless delays while DNR finds time to plan an expansive new $17 million building?

Is our own Tax Policy Committee reassured when the director of Economic Development testifies that the reason they gave millions in tax credits to companies that didn't exist was because their budget was too small?

What can we say to grieving families whose children were removed by DFS to a most tragic end?

What do our state workers think when we give them a $50 a month raise, and this administration advances a rule to take half of that back in service fees to be paid to unions they choose not to join?

Do we ourselves take comfort in the state spending millions in renovating this chamber, only to have a chandelier fall to the ground, and learn that until last week, none of these lighting fixtures had a safety cable attached?

Chandeliers do not have the privilege of this floor. But we do. And, we must use that privilege to set Missouri on the right track. We must do so in a way that reassures citizens that we can do the job of governing, that we are responsible stewards of their hard-earned tax dollars and that they are getting the best possible state government, bar none.

To do this will require a new direction in fiscal accountability for Missouri government.

Last year, the governor of this state proposed a budget that was balanced on more than $700 million in revenue that did not exist. Imaginary revenue. Revenue from taxes that did not exist, had not been approved by this body, had not been placed on the ballot and had not been approved by voters.

We did not pay for programs in the current fiscal budget with imaginary revenue. We cannot pay for programs in the new budget with imaginary revenue.

A couple of weeks ago, supporters dropped a plan that sought to place an "emergency tax increase" on the ballot. Those who had supported it abandoned the plan for one simple reason: There is not sufficient public support for a general tax increase in Missouri.

The people are telling us we must live within our means. And we shall live within our means.

During the first six months of this fiscal year, we are delighted that revenue collections are up by almost six percent over last year. That means our state is pulling out of its economic recession. Finally.

Let's give credit where credit is due: to hard working Missourians, the innovation of entrepreneurs and the determination of Missouri business and industry to succeed often in spite of, rather than because of, government programs, red tape and taxes.

Last year, this General Assembly stood firm against the call of the Governor and special interests in this state for higher taxes.

Had we not been firm in our resolve -- had we not stopped higher taxes -- the economic recovery now underway would not have been possible. Government would have consumed the growth, strangling the emerging recovery in its cradle.

Higher taxes is not the answer; smarter, more efficient, more accountable government is the answer.

Let smarter government begin here today.

Let us consider a cap on state spending. Let us establish a panel to review every state program every five years to make sure each program is absolutely essential and is running efficiently.

Let us ask the people whether they want fuel taxes to fund road repairs or to subsidize state departments.

Let us restore the confidence of our citizens in their government by establishing a commission guarding against the waste, fraud and the abuse of their tax dollars.

Let us give our full support to our joint Committee on Tax Policy as it works to review tax credits -- especially those that have been issued to companies that don't really exist.

Let us restore the confidence of citizens in their right to be informed by strengthening our state's sunshine laws. And let us restore the safety of our communities by stricter enforcement -- and disclosure -- of sex offender registration in our state.

One way in which we can restore citizen confidence is by continuing our prudent stewardship of the resources they provide for state programs and services.

Writing the state budget has always been one of the biggest jobs facing the Legislature each year. This past session, I was proud of the way our Senate Appropriations Committee worked in bipartisan fashion to secure a balanced, fair and workable state budget, and how this committee resolved to make tough budget choices under difficult circumstances.

This year, we again face tough choices. This year, again, the Senate will take most seriously the responsibility of passing a responsible, balanced budget with available revenues.

This must be complemented by policies that encourage departments and programs to be managed more effectively, reduce waste and inefficiency, and make the maximum use of available resources.

We have an opportunity to review these policies -- from taxation to the foundation formula -- including tax policies to support businesses in Missouri, rather than in other states, by closing so-called loopholes.

I believe that each of us here want to provide proper and adequate funding for our public schools, for our colleges, for our senior citizens and for our programs to help children and families.

Let us help education by assuring that dollars go to teachers and classrooms, instead of administrative budgets.

Rather than wasting money on promotions for a program too few seniors now find worthwhile, let us review our state's SeniorRx program and reshape it so that it fills the "donut hole" in the new federal prescription program enacted just a few months ago.

And, for the sake of our state's most at-risk youth, let us continue our efforts to restructure the state's Division of Family services to better protect our families and incorporate successful private sector programs that can better protect children who truly need our help.

We can and we must make improvements in these areas to assure that our state is moving in the right direction.

In addition to improving the fiscal accountability of Missouri state government, we must also set our state on the right track for job growth and economic development.

We as a state have endured the loss of more than 77,000 manufacturing jobs. Yet, manufacturing remains an important mainstay of our economy. This past year, the great American motorcycle company, Harley Davidson, enjoyed an increase in sales of 23 percent. Not only is this a great American company, it is also a great Missouri company, bringing jobs to Kansas City and St. Joseph.

Last year, Speaker Hanaway and I joined Gov. Holden in working with Ford to keep 2,600 jobs at the Hazelwood plant. Boeing is receiving contracts that will strengthen this company that is a national stalwart in meeting our transportation and our defense needs.

These and countless other Missouri companies need our help and support. They need less red tape, more efficient government cooperation and a pro-jobs environment in which they are empowered -- not hindered -- by government to succeed in the highly competitive marketplace.

Let us help these companies by reaching a proper and intelligent resolution to issues involving workers compensation in our state.

Let us help consumers and businesses by working together to address the costs of litigation and extreme jury awards.

This issue is affecting the quality of life of Missourians ranging from the availability of health care to the cost of consumer products.

As each of us knows, doctors are leaving Missouri. The people expect positive reform out of us, not slavish subservience to special interests.

No frivolous lawsuit has ever cured a sick or injured Missourian. Let us work together for common-sense improvements that protect workers, businesses, health-care providers and consumers alike.

In addition to supporting our traditional economic sectors, we must also set our state on a proper course toward a new, knowledge- and service-based economy.

Life sciences research means jobs for Missouri. Life science research means a better future for all of Missouri. Today, I ask your consideration in joining me in supporting a proposal by our University of Missouri system to improve its facilities in St. Louis, Columbia, Rolla and Kansas City to expand life-sciences and agriculture research.

These new facilities will increase the endowed professorships, attract millions of dollars in federal and private research investments, and stimulate our economy through more jobs for working Missourians both today and in the future.

The benefits of this science and research are essential. As the nation's second-largest beef producing state, life science and agricultural research is essential to maintaining this vital industry and in assuring the safety of the food supply.

Agriculture is our state's oldest industry, life-sciences research our newest. With proper support and policies by this General Assembly, both can grow and prosper to serve us all in the new economy of the 21st century.

During the next four and one-half months, we will face these challenges, as well as other issues that will emerge through the legislative session.

Our state motto, "United We Stand," is the key to the success of this session, and of the future of this state.

Together, as Missourians, we can succeed. None here wants us to fail, divided.

Each of us wants fair and reasonable taxation systems. Each of us places the highest priority on our public schools and colleges. We all want affordable health programs for citizens and common-sense regulations for our businesses and industries.

By working together, we can achieve each of these things.

By putting the people first, the programs, policies -- and even the politics -- will fall into their rightful place. Thank you.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 9.141, RSMo, the Bill of Rights was read by Senator Kennedy.

Senator Shields assumed the Chair.

On motion of Senator Gibbons, the Senate recessed until 2:30 p.m.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Kinder offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 22

WHEREAS, Social Security is a federal program that does not recognize the retirement needs of many Missourians; and

WHEREAS, Social Security tax revenues alone will be insufficient to pay current benefits as early as the year 2015; and

WHEREAS, the Social Security Trust Funds may be completely exhausted by the year 2037; and

WHEREAS, the investment return on Social Security contributions made by workers today is significantly below that available from other sources; and

WHEREAS, workers deserve the opportunity to invest more productively for their own retirements; and

WHEREAS, more retirement investment opportunities might dramatically increase workers' savings rate and retain more young adults who otherwise would leave the state for jobs elsewhere; and

WHEREAS, the unfunded liability of the Social Security system exceeds $9 trillion, according to the Chairman of the Federal Reserve System; and

WHEREAS, many workers are already facing very low or even negative rates of return on their lifetimes of Social Security contributions; and

WHEREAS, the aging of the United States population means that fewer and fewer active workers will be supporting more and more retirees under today's pay-as-you-go financing for Social Security; and

WHEREAS, this ration of retirees to workers has shrunk from 42 to 1 in 1935 when the program was first started, to less than 3 to 1 today and soon fall to less than 2 to 1; and

WHEREAS, raising payroll or income taxes to compensate for this demographic shrinkage will mean that today's workers get an even worse return on their federal retirement contributions than they do now; and

WHEREAS, broadly cutting Social Security benefits also would worsen rates of return; and

WHEREAS, states and localities that allow their own employees to invest a portion of their taxes for retirement have shown that workers can do better for themselves with such accounts than under Social Security; and

WHEREAS, an increasing number of countries, including Australia, Chile, Mexico, Poland, Hungary, Khazakistan, Sweden, and the United Kingdom, now allow their citizens to allocate their taxes to such personal retirement accounts; and

WHEREAS, the Social Security Trustees have consistently and repeatedly stated in their annual reports that the Social Security system will be unable to deliver on its long-term promises under its current financing scheme; and

WHEREAS, the public, especially younger people, are therefore rightfully suspicious of Social Security's ability to deliver on its long-term promises to them; and

WHEREAS, bipartisan Social Security reform proposals now before Congress would address these problems by creating a system of personal accounts with a portion of Social Security taxes; and

WHEREAS, the Social Security Administration's own actuaries have judged these bipartisan proposals to be fiscally sound for the next 75 years; and

WHEREAS, these proposals would reduce or eliminate the pressure for higher taxes or broadly reduced benefits while reducing Social Security's unfunded liability; and

WHEREAS, these proposals would not affect people in or near retirement, nor those eligible for or drawing Social Security's disability benefits; and

WHEREAS, the Congress has been unable to pass meaningful Social Security reform; and

WHEREAS, the State of Missouri has shown that it invests in a fiscally responsible manner and is capable of administering pension programs; and

WHEREAS, the citizens of the State of Missouri deserve better than what Social Security can deliver:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urges the Congress of the United States to enact legislation amending the Social Security Act and other statutes to allow the citizens of the State of Missouri to voluntarily opt-out of the federal Social Security System and invest their Social Security taxes in personal retirement accounts that they themselves would own and control, the retirement accounts and investments to be approved by the State Treasurer's Office and the program to be modeled in a manner similar in concept to the Missouri Saving for Tuition 529 program; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Missouri Congressional delegation.

Senator Gross offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 23

WHEREAS, nature has set apart portions of St. Charles County and St. Louis County by the waters flowing from the Missouri River; and

WHEREAS, several bridges span the Missouri River in St. Louis County and St. Charles County; and

WHEREAS, three particular bridges spanning the Missouri River between St. Charles County and St. Louis County have been unofficially named for many years; and

WHEREAS, these three particular bridges carry 350,000 motor vehicles daily through St. Charles County and St. Louis County:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby instruct the State Highways and Transportation Commission and the Department of Transportation to take action immediately to designate the bridge crossing the Missouri River between St. Charles and St. Louis County on Interstate 70 the "Blanchette Memorial Bridge"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the State Highways and Transportation Commission and the Department of Transportation take action immediately to designate the bridge crossing the Missouri River on U.S. Route 40/61 the "Daniel Boone Bridge"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the State Highways and Transportation Commission and the Department of Transportation take action immediately to designate the bridge crossing the Missouri River on Highway 370 the "Discovery Bridge"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that neither the Missouri Department of Transportation nor the state shall be obligated to provide any funding or remuneration to commemorate or memorialize the three designated bridges; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the State Highways and Transportation Commission and the director of the Department of Transportation.

Senators Cauthorn, Coleman, Kennedy, Scott, Childers, Yeckel, Clemens and Gross offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 24

WHEREAS, faith-based and community organizations are currently providing quality social services and making a positive difference in the communities they serve; and

WHEREAS, faith-based and community organizations are serving their communities in areas such as the prevention and treatment of juvenile delinquency, child care services, support services for the elderly, the prevention of crime, the intervention in and prevention of domestic violence, and a number of other social service areas; and

WHEREAS, some of these faith-based and community organizations are currently receiving funds from federal government, or through a state, city, or local government that itself receives federal funds, to carry out their missions; and

WHEREAS, because of the quality services provided by these organizations, it is important for the state and local governments to utilize their services by working in partnership with faith-based and community organizations; and

WHEREAS, faith-based and community organizations that currently work in partnership with local governments or judicial circuits are doing so within the framework of the Constitutional church-state guidelines:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby express their gratitude to faith-based and community organizations working in their communities to improve the lives of the citizens of this state; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we support the mission of faith-based and community organizations to provide social services to improve the lives of our citizens; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we support and encourage the state and all local governments to work in partnership with faith-based and community organizations to provide quality social services that improve the lives of so many of our citizens in particular and better our society in general; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the Governor, the presiding judge of each judicial circuit in this state, and to the director of each state department.

- 2. Committee on Transportation: Please appoint Senator Callahan to the spot vacated by the late Senator DePasco.
- 3. Committee on Ways and Means: Please remove me from that Committee and appoint Senator Callahan in my place.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senators Stoll, Nodler, Caskey and Scott offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 25

WHEREAS, the Government Pension Offset (GPO) and Windfall Elimination Provision (WEP) of the federal Social Security Act penalize people who have dedicated their lives to public service by taking away benefits they have earned; and

WHEREAS, nine out of ten public employees affected by the GPO lose their entire spousal benefit, even though their spouse paid Social Security taxes for many years; and

WHEREAS, the WEP causes hard-working people to lose up to sixty percent of the benefits they earned themselves; and

WHEREAS, many workers rely on misleading Social Security Administration statements that fail to take into account the GPO and WEP when projecting benefits; and

WHEREAS, the impact of the GPO and WEP is not just felt in those states in which public employees, including educators, are not covered by Social Security, because people move from state to state and affected individuals are everywhere; and

WHEREAS, the GPO and WEP apply to all vested members of the Public School Retirement System of Missouri; and

WHEREAS, the number of people affected across the country is growing every day as more and more people reach retirement age; and

WHEREAS, some 300,000 individuals lose an average of $3,600 a year due to the GPO; and

WHEREAS, this amount can make the difference between self-sufficiency and poverty; and

WHEREAS, these people have less money to spend in their local economy and sometimes have to turn to expensive government programs like food stamps to make ends meet; and

WHEREAS, during a national teacher shortage, the GPO and WEP discourage people from entering and staying in the teaching profession, since doing so will mean a loss of earned Social Security benefits; and

WHEREAS, the GPO and WEP are also causing current educators to leave the profession and students to choose courses of study other than education; and

WHEREAS, non-Social Security states are finding it increasingly difficult to attract quality educators as more people learn about the GPO and WEP; and

WHEREAS, the nation should respect, not penalize, public service; and

WHEREAS, the GPO and WEP are established in federal law and repeal of the GPO and WEP can only be enacted by the United States Congress:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge the Congress of the United States to immediately repeal the Government Pension Offset and Windfall Elimination Provision of the Social Security Act; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives and the members of the Missouri Congressional delegation.

The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Ronnie L. White, escorted the Chief Justice to the dais where he delivered the State of the Judiciary Address to the Joint Assembly:

2004 STATE OF THE JUDICIARY ADDRESS

CHIEF JUSTICE RONNIE WHITE

President Maxwell, Speaker Hanaway, distinguished members of the Senate and House of Representatives, honorable statewide elected officials, esteemed colleagues of the Court, and honored guests -

You know, it is indeed a pleasure to be here with you this morning. As I walked through the doors back there, I thought of how amazing this is, after having served in this body.

I want to take a minute and thank Speaker Hanaway for attending the kick-off celebration for Martin Luther King, Jr., in St. Louis on Saturday night at Harris-Stowe State College. The people there were very, very proud and pleased to see her and the bipartisan delegation of house members who were also with her.

I'd also like to take a moment and introduce two people who have been with me since the beginning - my wife, Sylvia ... and our son, Ronnie II.

I come before you today as Chief Justice to perform the traditional duty of sharing with you the state of our judiciary. I remember the first time I came into this chamber almost 15 years ago as a newly elected representative. It is reassuring as I stand before you today to see some familiar faces from that very first day.

Senator Maida Coleman from St. Louis was one of the people who helped me to get here. When I was running for elective office in 1989 and going door to door in my district, I happened to stop by Senator Coleman's house. You could not imagine what I got when I knocked on the door. She began to tell me all the things I needed to do when I got elected, so I thought about it and I said, "Well, why don't you come out of the house and help me do it?" And look at where she is today! And I want to say to you, Senator Coleman, I am very proud of you and pleased to be your friend.

And after Senator Coleman helped me to get here, one of the first people I met was Senator Mary Bland from Kansas City. In fact, during my time in the House, I was her seatmate, and sometimes after some bruising committee battles and deep debates, I would come back to my chair and sit down, and Senator Bland would say, "Representative White, I'm praying for you." Well as I stand before you today, I want to say to you, Senator, your prayers have been answered. And she would also follow up and say, "You're going to be all right." Well, after 15 years, a lot of time has passed and things have happened, I want to say to you, Senator Bland, I am all right.

While tradition and duty require me to speak to you today, a much more immediate duty compels continued communication with each other throughout the rest of this year. As someone who once served in this very room, I empathize with you as you face yet another historically challenging year. It is no secret that painstaking choices will have to be made - funding our public schools, helping children in our foster care system, dealing with the state's budget difficulties. Our charge, then, is to work together wherever we can so that those hard choices are made in the most informed and cooperative environment possible.

Last session, the judiciary offered leadership and solutions when it was required of us, and we offered information and cooperation when leadership was required of you. This cooperation between our branches of government made possible the important work of the Commission on Children's Justice. This same cooperation produced a judiciary budget that sustained difficult cuts but still preserved the judicial branch's ability to fulfill its essential role for the citizens of this state.

In addition, we collaborated with you to find places where our effectiveness could be improved. Even before the passage of House Bill 600, the judicial branch was generating $370 million in positive economic impact each year. I'm not talking about lawsuits here - I'm talking about the court costs, fines, fees and restitution that the courts collect for the state and its citizens. Through the passage of HB 600, we advocated and you adopted changes that will allow us to collect outstanding court costs and fines more efficiently at no cost to taxpayers other than that necessary to operate the judicial branch of government. While this money alone will not alleviate the state's financial situation, it provides a small measure of relief to some, particularly school districts - and it sends an important message about justice to those who believe they can utilize the service of justice and violate our laws without paying.

But this is just one example of what we can achieve when we work together. We must continue in this spirit of mutual cooperation for this year and for years to come - no matter who may come and go from the office of Judge, Senator, or Representative.

In that spirit of cooperation, then, let me relate to you where the judicial branch stands now, and where, with your help, we hope to be in years to come. As I stated at our annual Bar meeting in October, I have a firm commitment to doing whatever I can to promote a more professional, diverse and technologically integrated future for the justice community in this state. Let me also reaffirm our commitment to saving money where we can and working with you to make our judiciary a more efficient one.

At the outset, I want to thank all those people who make our efficiency possible - our employees. We all know that it is the employees across this state who provide direct services to the citizens every day and who are the face of Missouri state government. And with the budget constraints over the past several years, many of these employees are bringing less money home to their families now than they were four or five years ago. I request, therefore, that you give these people every due consideration even in the face of the current fiscal problems. For if we cannot keep our best and brightest state employees, we all suffer.

Now, as to the issue of professionalism, let me say that it is an honor to serve as Chief Justice with such distinguished colleagues. For many years and through many different judges, we at the Court have attempted to create an environment that is collegial, not combative - and always dedicated to preserving the integrity of the law. While our opinions differ on occasion - although not nearly as frequently as one might think - we always seek to ensure that the time-honored processes by which we make our decisions remain intact.

At least to some extent, I believe we owe this high quality of my colleagues on the Supreme Court - regardless of the political affiliation of the governor who appointed them - to a nonpartisan court plan that for more than 60 years has made our state an example to the nation.

Missouri itself has changed drastically since its voters first adopted the nonpartisan plan in 1940. Counties that were once considered rural are now so large in population that they rival even our largest cities, and the needs of their courts have become more complex. In addition, as election costs inevitably rise, unforeseen pressures are placed on members of the judiciary as well as on those who seek to replace them. In even the best of scenarios, the appearance of the intrusion of politics - and money - into the judicial process becomes difficult to avoid.

For these reasons, I announced my intention last July to discuss the expansion of the nonpartisan court plan into Greene, Jefferson and St. Charles Counties, the three next largest counties that do not already operate under the plan. In my discussions with local bar associations, I have made it clear that, whatever we do, we must do in full cooperation with the circuits - and more importantly the people - because it is pointless to proceed if the citizens in those areas do not want change. However, we should at least be open to discussing and determining whether current systems continue to meet our constantly evolving needs and to do so in an atmosphere of civility and respect. Our talks so far have been well received, and I believe that many who originally had misgivings about the plan have begun to think positively about its potential value. In fact, the Springfield Metropolitan Bar Association voted 2-1 to support the nonpartisan plan in Greene County, and discussions are underway in St. Charles County. I hope to speak with the Jefferson County Bar Association in the near future.

Ultimately, these decisions must be made locally. And let me be clear - we are not asking the general assembly in any way to expand the nonpartisan plan. Even I seek only to act as a conduit for discussion. I realize that many of you in this room may have misgivings about my proposal, and reasonable minds can certainly differ on this issue. I therefore welcome your input and offer to conduct a legislative forum so you can discuss your positions - positive or negative - and your important voices can be heard on this issue.

In addition to serving as a facilitator for public discussions about the nonpartisan court plan, the judicial branch must also review its own internal court policies to seek out ways in which we can improve professionalism. Our judicial committees and bar committees remain dedicated to this very cause. As one excellent example of such a review, last fall the Supreme Court Family Court Committee completed the Missouri Resource Guide for Best Practices in Child Abuse and Neglect Cases. Nearly a thousand professionals in the juvenile justice field - including every single member of the judicial branch who is assigned to work on juvenile cases - attended cross-training in these best practices.

I hope that, through efforts such as these, you will continue to see the judiciary as a willing partner for positive change. Our doors remain open - your ideas are welcome, and we hope that you work with us as we strive to create the judicial system of the future.

There are many ways in which our present system demonstrates our promising future. Our internationally award-winning efforts to use advanced technologies in the courts have done much to improve judicial services, and technology holds the promise of even greater returns if we can capitalize on this investment.

I realize that many of my predecessors have discussed this program with you, but for me it retains personal importance. In 1993, when I was still in the state legislature, I sponsored House Bill 681 - the first bill seeking to automate our state courts. Although not many seemed to share this vision at the time, I realized then that the future of Missouri courts would lie in their ability to embrace technology in their efforts to provide service, justice and access to the citizens of this state.

Well, now the "future" is here. We all realize that advanced technology is an absolute business necessity, not a hypothetical dream or automation project. The state has an automated payroll system and automated driving records, law enforcement has the automated Missouri Uniform Law Enforcement System, and you here in the legislature have automated drafting, filing and tracking of bills and amendments. Similarly, for our judicial branch to remain able to provide exceptional service to the public effectively, we must continue to scrape our way into the 21st century by finding a way to afford those technological tools essential to an effective judicial system.

I thank each of you for recognizing this need last session through the passage of Senate Bill 448. With the leadership of Senator Matt Bartle and Representative Richard Byrd, we were able to extend the court automation fee until 2009, preserving a valuable business tool for the operation of court technology. I want to publicly extend my thanks to them and to all of you who continue to support this vitally important effort.

Although there is still much to be done, there is much that is already working well. The state's online case information system, Case.net, and case management program, Justice Information System - commonly known as JIS - are improving the business of our courts in many ways that may not be obvious to the casual observer but that would be noticeable immediately if they were no longer present.

For example, the general assembly relies on the judicial branch to collect all the fees that fund many worthy causes across the state - including the traffic fines that support our local schools and the crime victims' compensation fund. For courts using JIS, it took only a flip of the switch to begin collecting, tracking and distributing the new costs quickly and efficiently. It is not as easy for the 40 other counties that do not yet have JIS due largely to budget constraints. And for some of those courts, can you believe that their clerk staff had to manage the six new fees created last session manually by adding six new envelopes to the pegboard?

Just imagine how your day-to-day business in this building would be different if you still had to rely on typewriters and carbon copies to circulate amendments to your legislative packages. I'm sure your staff would be horrified by the very thought! Consider this: we still have areas in this state where the courts account for hundreds of thousands - if not millions - of dollars using manual accounting systems. We cannot continue to move some 800,000 new cases and account for some $370 million annually when some courts still are using systems that were designed in the 1950s.

But technology is not just about making us more efficient at our jobs. With that efficiency also comes significant cost savings and the ability to generate revenue. For example, a study we recently conducted in three counties identified a total of $2.3 million in costs and fines that litigants have failed to pay - money we now can collect under HB 600 - at least in those counties that have JIS. If that is what we can do in just three counties, imagine the millions of dollars the judicial branch may be able to collect statewide. I must emphasize that this effort, along with others, seeks to go after those who fail to pay their obligations. While to some extent it is about money, more importantly it is about the enforcement of court orders and accountability to the laws you pass.

Judicial technology is also about facilitating the provision of immediate services to children and others at risk, ensuring an efficient investment of time and resources into each case, eliminating duplicate paperwork ... and saving the state even more money. I hope you will continue to support this important investment of judicial technology.

Of course, the system is capable of providing many more benefits, but fiscal prudence mandates that we be creative in discovering new ways to bring more counties into the information age. For example, although no new state dollars were available, the Jackson County Circuit Court determined that JIS was vital enough to its business needs that it was able to implement the system without the state spending any significant dollars toward that effort.

We will, of course, continue to explore any option that allows us to move forward with technology, which is vital not only to the judicial branch but also to the interests of accountability to the laws you pass, to the interests of public safety, and to the interests of those who use our courts every day. This is why it is so important that, even in these challenging times, we all remain committed to doing what works and to changing what needs to be fixed. I look forward to working with you to ensure a bright technological future for the judicial system in Missouri.

While we look to the future in court technology, we also must look to the future of the people who practice law in this state. To do that, we must make every effort to improve racial and gender diversity. Our legal community should strive to be as diverse as the people who live in this great state, because equal access to justice can only be realized fully when there is equal opportunity for all to serve in our system of justice. When people come to our courthouses, they need to see that other people just like them have every opportunity to thrive in the Judiciary as a workplace. They need to feel vested in, rather than controlled by, our system of justice.

I think at times we take much for granted in this great country - particularly in relation to our government and its institutions. It has become all too commonplace today to engage in rhetoric that does not challenge us to be better. Unlike virtually any other country in the world, this is our government, yours and mine. The American justice system remains a beacon to the world in spite of its failings, perceived and real. It is a beacon because we, the citizens of this great country, have a vested interest in that system as our system of justice. For people to obtain justice, people must see that equal access to justice is more than just a vision ... they must see it as a reality.

So how does the judicial branch achieve this goal in concrete ways that can be implemented feasibly? First, through the Missouri plan, we must diversify our selection panels so that both selectors and those selected represent a wide cross-section of the citizenry. Without diversifying the ranks of those who aspire to become trial judges and appellate judges, we will struggle to develop the array of applicants we seek.

I believe it is clear that diversity must begin at the very earliest levels, from pre-law and paralegal programs to law school to entry-level positions throughout the legal community ... and perhaps even earlier than that ... so that in the future, diversity does not require effort but rather takes place as a matter of course in a profession where all facets of society are represented.

Already, progress has been made on this front, as my own experience illustrates. I can remember attending my first appellate section meeting at the 1994 judicial conference. I was the only African-American in attendance. That is because, of the 39 appellate judges in the state at that time, I was the only African-American judge among them, and there were only three women on the appellate court then. But time has passed, and the diversity of the appellate bench is getting better. I am now on the Supreme Court, and we have four African-American judges on the Court of Appeals, plus a total of nine women on the appellate bench, including my colleague at the Supreme Court, Laura Stith. We also have the first Jewish judge to serve on the Supreme Court, my friend Rick Teitelman.

However, this progress does not mean that the judicial branch is where it needs to be. So I invite you to help us in any way you can. Encourage the women and minorities in your constituencies to consider the law as a career whenever you can. Foster in them an interest in the legal system of this great state. Help us end this discussion by making Missouri a nationwide example of a diverse, innovative legal community - a legacy of which we can all be proud.

I truly believe the future of our entire judiciary can be bright for all - but only if we work with you to create it in the present. We remain willing to do our part, to lead when needed, and to aid you in implementing change when you seek it from us. We welcome the discussions brought forth by the Interim Committee on Judicial Resources, and we look forward to working with all parties in the interest of creating a more efficient, modernized judiciary in this session and in sessions to come. We continue to look for savings where we can, and we ask, out of respect for our different but co-equal responsibilities under the constitution, that we work together to find these savings. It is the responsibility of both the judiciary and the legislature to preserve essential judicial functions and maintain the effectiveness of the third branch of government.

In conclusion, we remain committed to providing greater service, access and justice throughout the state. In partnership with each of you, I am certain that our commitment will be fulfilled. Thank you for listening.

On motion of Senator Gibbons, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by Senator Gross.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senators Kennedy, Dougherty and Days offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 27

WHEREAS, the U.S. Postal Service was established as a public service by our founding fathers in 1775 to bind our nation together by providing a means for commerce and communication; and

WHEREAS, the framers of the Constitution charged the federal government with providing postal services to all communities, rich and poor, urban and rural, with uniform postage rates; and

WHEREAS, for nearly two hundred and thirty years the availability of dependable, affordable mail service has proved vitally important to many American businesses and citizens; and

WHEREAS, the Postal Service remains an important part of our nation's economic infrastructure, through which nearly one trillion dollars of economic activity is conducted each year, and through which nine million people are employed; and

WHEREAS, Americans currently enjoy the most extensive postal service at the lowest postage rates of any major industrialized nation in the world; and

WHEREAS, the Postal Service operates without taxpayer subsidies, and postage rate increases have remained at or below the inflation rate; and

WHEREAS, in pursuit of a solution to the Postal Service's recent challenges, which were brought in part by declining mail volume amid a recession and terrorist attacks, the president has charged a commission to recommend far-reaching changes to postal operations and services; and

WHEREAS, despite the Postal Service's recent economic difficulties, it continues to provide special below-cost postage discounts to large business and advertising mailers, driving the Postal Service billions of dollars into debt, and ultimately causing small businesses and ordinary citizens to subsidize those discounts through higher postage rates; and

WHEREAS, the commission is considering a wide range of "solutions" such as cutting services in many communities by closing post offices or reducing their hours of operation and the number of days mail is delivered each week; introducing a complicated postage rate structure that would charge postal patrons based on where they send their letters and packages, or even turning over postal operations to private, for-profit enterprises; and

WHEREAS, millions of older, economically disadvantaged and disabled Americans do not have easy access to the Internet or to electronic banking and bill paying, and therefore are heavily dependent on the Postal Service for communicating and conducting business transactions; and

WHEREAS, the continuation of six-day mail delivery is important for many businesses and community organizations, as well as many citizens who depend on Saturday delivery for receiving checks, prescription drugs, gifts, and greeting cards; and

WHEREAS, replacing the Postal Service's public service obligation with a profit seeking mandate would undermine the Postal Service's historic "universal service" obligation, weaken its national infrastructure, and divide our nation politically and economically:

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge Congress to reject any recommendations from the President's Commission to base postal services on profit seeking motives or to cut services to any American community; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States and Missouri's Congressional delegation.

RESOLUTIONS

Senators Steelman and Nodler offered the following resolution:

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 1118

WHEREAS, the New Source Review Program under the Federal Clean Air Act has been seen by some as confusing, in need of clarification and has been the subject of debate over many years; and

WHEREAS, the primary source of confusion involves questions over definitions within the federal regulations, namely "modification", "repair", and "routine maintenance"; and

WHEREAS, further evidence of confusion and lack of objective standards within the federal regulations can be seen in the numerous lawsuits which have been filed in recent years by the Environmental Protection Agency challenging work performed by individuals as violations of the New Source Review Rule; and

WHEREAS, on October 27, 2003, the EPA published a rule that provided some clarification, the Equipment Replacement Provision, 68 C.F.R. Section 61, 248-61, 280; and

WHEREAS, the Equipment Replacement Provision provides a bright line test for determining when the replacement of broken or deteriorating equipment is "routine"; and

WHEREAS, the Equipment Replacement Provision provides states and industry with definitive standards for judging source "modifications"; and

WHEREAS, the state of New York, along with eleven other states, filed suit in an action styled State of New York, et al v. U.S. EPA, No. 03-01380 (D.D.C., 2003), to have this new rule declared invalid; and

WHEREAS, it is believed that the new rule provides the clarity with which the regulated community deserves to possess when considering improvements to individual operating facilities; and

WHEREAS, it is believed that the EPA's Equipment Replacement Provision should remain in full force and effect, providing the regulated community with the clarity and objective standards needed to conduct business in an appropriate manner; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri Department of Natural Resources is currently working to adopt new state rules that will comply with the New Sources Review Program under the Federal Clean Air Act on an expedited basis; and

WHEREAS, the availability of state rules that are compliant with the Federal Clean Air Act is vital to the retention and creation of industrial jobs in Missouri; and

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, hereby urge the validation of the rule as promulgated by the EPA known as the Equipment Replacement Provision set forth in 68 C.F.R. Section 61,248-61,280, so as to provide necessary clarity to the regulated community as to what constitutes routine maintenance and modification; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Senate commits to join in the Motion to Intervene in the lawsuit styled State of New York, et al v. U.S. EPA, No. 03-01380 (D.D.C., 2003), in support of the EPA rule.

The Joint Committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency, Governor Bob Holden, escorted the Governor to the dais where he delivered the State of the State Address to the Joint Assembly:

State of the State Address

By

Governor Bob Holden

January 21, 2004

Mr. President, Madame Speaker, Mr. President Pro Tem, Distinguished State Officials, Mr. Chief Justice, Honored Members of the Missouri Supreme Court, Members of the 92nd General Assembly, First Lady Lori Hauser Holden, and Citizens of the State of Missouri:

I come before you today to discuss the state of our state ... and to reflect on the state of state government and the state of bi-partisanship in Missouri.

At a time of great challenge for our nation, both here and abroad, we in Missouri have seen our share of hardship and sacrifice. A great number of our citizens have left home and family in the service of our country, including the brave volunteers who serve in Missouri's National Guard.

That is why I think it's important today to begin with a remembrance of those Missouri citizens who have fallen during Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom. Their sacrifice is a reminder that here in the safety of our capital city, our disagreements should never be characterized as battles, but rather as the actions of a democracy that these soldiers gave their lives defending. And we are forever in their solemn debt.

These are the names of our fallen servicemen, and I'd like to follow this reading with a moment of silence in their honor:

Specialist Jonathan Barnes from Anderson, Missouri. 21 years old.

Sergeant Michael Barry from Kansas City, Missouri. 29 years old.

Specialist Joel Bertoldie from Independence, Missouri. 20 years old.

Sergeant Travis Burkhardt from Edina, Missouri. 26 years old.

Second Lieutenant Benjamin J. Colgan from Aurora, Missouri. 30 years old.

Aviation Electrician's Mate Samuel Patrick Cox from Kansas City, Missouri. 21 years old.

Private First Class Jesse Givens from Springfield, Missouri. 34 years old.

Sergeant Nicolas Hodson from Smithville, Missouri. 22 years old.

Staff Sergeant Jamie Huggins of Hume, Missouri. 26 years old.

Technical Sergeant William Kerwood from Houston, Missouri. 37 years old.

Staff Sergeant Daniel L. Kisling, Jr. of Neosho, Missouri. 31 years old.

Specialist Joshua Neusche from Montreal, Missouri. 20 years old.

Captain Benedict Smith from Monroe City, Missouri. 29 years old.

Private First Class Jeremiah Smith from Odessa, Missouri. 25 years old.

Staff Sergeant Robert Anthony Stever from Springfield, Missouri. 38 years old.

Sergeant Philip J. Svitak of Joplin, Missouri. 31 years old.

Private First Class Adam L. Thomas from LaPlata, Missouri. 21 years old.

And Sergeant Donald Walters from Kansas City, Missouri. 33 years old.

It is with a heavy heart that we remember these young men of Missouri...some of our finest. And we are humbled by their bravery.

For those of us in this chamber, let us respect their sacrifice by putting our own disagreements in proper perspective. In the heat of political debate, it is not uncommon to hear the language of war.

As if partisan politics could be compared to the ultimate sacrifice on a battlefield. It can't. And all of us know that. I call upon each and every one of us to begin anew - to put reason before rancor and to recognize just how fortunate we all are.

Let us look to the families of these heroic soldiers, gathered here in our gallery. We honor you and pledge our unrelenting efforts for shared progress for every citizen of Missouri.

As we head into this new year, we face many difficult questions. But as many of you know, I am an optimistic man.

It is my nature to see the good in people and to seek common ground on difficult questions. So before I address the challenges ahead, let's take a moment to look at the health of our state and the growing strength of our economy.

At a time when our nation is just beginning to emerge from one of the darkest recessions in memory, Missouri is in sound economic condition.

Missouri has a long history in aviation and the airline industry, and our state suffered more than its share of lost airline jobs in the wake of September 11th. But in spite of this setback, our unemployment rate has remained below the national average.

In fact, we have more new businesses than ever before, and we've created a net gain of 30,000 new jobs since my last State of the State address. The rest of the country is losing jobs -- 220,000 net lost jobs last year alone.

But we created more jobs in Missouri last year than all but seven states. And, in fact, we created more jobs than any of our surrounding states. We are bucking the national trend, and it's something we should all take great pride in achieving.

Out of all fifty states, we rank fifth in productivity, twelfth for small business startups and we're one of only seven states with a Triple-A bond rating - a significant measure of our state's fiscal health and potential, and of our stewardship of state government.

These have been difficult times. But in the middle of our state's name is the word "our." Not "mine," not "yours," but "our" - as in "our" strength and "our" people. Together, we're all rising above tough times. There have been important issues where we have been able to find common ground.

Support and respect for our veterans is one such example. We should take great pride in the new 200 bed veteran's home in Mt. Vernon and the new wing at the St. Louis Veterans Home, which is nearing completion.

We have also completed two new veterans cemeteries, bringing the total to four. And the Veterans Task Force, created with the help of Lt. Governor Joe Maxwell, has assisted in our efforts to launch one of the most aggressive veterans outreach programs in state history. We've helped over 2,000 veterans receive benefits they didn't know they were entitled to. To me, it's the true fulfillment of public service to be able to give full honors and benefits to those who've served our country.

Working to protect Missouri jobs and support Missouri workers is another important accomplishment of the past year, and I salute everyone in this chamber who has played a role. Speaker Hanaway and President Pro Tem Kinder, we could not have kept the Ford Hazelwood plant in our state without a united effort, and I'm grateful for all that you did in joining me to help protect those 2,600 high-paying jobs.

But in the end, we must also recognize that Ford would not have stayed in Missouri if our workers did not warrant their confidence. Those who work the line held the line.

On the other side of our state, in Kansas City, H&R Block is building their new world headquarters, making a long term commitment to Kansas City and keeping nearly two thousand jobs in-state.

We protected the American Airlines overhaul base and their 1,700 jobs.

And we just recently received word that Ford will build the first hybrid Escape at their Claycomo plant, helping to secure the jobs of 5,500 Missouri autoworkers.

These American Airlines and Ford jobs, in particular, make another important point. Whether it's ensuring the safety of air travelers, or helping build the next generation of environmentally sound vehicles, Missouri workers are entrusted with the safety of families both in the air and on the ground, and there's no one I trust more with the future of Missouri's economy.

There are a number of examples of businesses starting in Missouri, staying in Missouri, or looking to move to Missouri. But I also realize that for a recently laid off worker, these stories of success offer little comfort at a difficult time. But know that as your Governor, I will continue to work tirelessly to strengthen our economy and create 21st century jobs - jobs that build on our native strengths and diversity here in Missouri.

That's why, today, I am calling on the Missouri General Assembly to pass my 2004 Jobs Now plan. By eliminating three outdated tax credits and redirecting the savings to local infrastructure projects, we can put the new revenue to work by putting Missourians to work.

The Jobs Now plan would answer critical needs in our local communities, including waste water systems, industrial parks, and broadband telecommunication systems. It would redirect existing revenue, leverage non-state investments, and is cost-neutral to the budget. Many of these projects are ready to go. Let's pass the Jobs Now plan and get them started.

The future of our state's economy also rests on the promise of new energy and new technologies. By energy, I mean a renewed commitment to ethanol that helps both our corn-producing farmers and our energy-consuming citizens.

And by new technologies, I mean the development of life sciences in both our business and academic communities. Energy and technology can lift up both urban and rural Missouri together.

And as all of you know, this son of Birch Tree believes there's no point in reaching the new frontier if half the family is left behind. That's why I'm proud to announce today a bipartisan effort to fully fund our state's ethanol program.

By working to expand the world market for ethanol and to support our state's ethanol production, we can not only strengthen our farming communities, we can also improve the environment and help lessen our country's dependence on Persian Gulf oil.

Our farmers may have never thought of themselves as having a role in Middle East politics, but let me say this - instead of turning swords into plowshares, we can use plowshares to force down the swords of war. Lowering demand for Persian Gulf oil and removing our soldiers from this cauldron of conflict should be a national imperative, and Missouri farmers can help lead the way.

We are also uniquely positioned in the Midwest to be the leader in developing industrial applications for life sciences. We have a top notch university system at the center of the world's most fertile cropland.

We are home to over one hundred life sciences companies already, placing us in the top third of all states. And, in fact, the Bio-based Manufacturers Association just moved their headquarters from Memphis to St. Louis. They wanted to be closer to what we call the heart of the Bio-Belt.

Whether it's pharmaceuticals, bio-technology, or medical research - life science technologies will create the jobs of tomorrow. And I want Missouri to be...not just the gateway to the West...but also the gateway to the future.

But how do we get there? Community leaders throughout Missouri have all told me the same thing. And I'm certain all of you have heard this message as well.

Whether it's a hospital administrator in St. Joseph, a tool and dye manufacturer in Lee's Summit, a printer in St. Charles, or the owner of a garage in any town in Missouri - they're all saying the same thing.

"Good schools are critical to the success of our business. We need educated workers or we can't compete."

One of those garage owners made the point very clearly. He said: "If you don't believe I need workers with a good education, just lift the hood of your car and look at the engine."

Manufacturers choose communities with an educated workforce. Young doctors and other professionals establish their practices and begin their families in towns with good schools. And companies transferring their workers look for the best schools for their workers' children.

As I've traveled the country promoting Missouri - and some of you have been with me in many of those meetings - wherever we go, we're asked about the quality of our schools and the abilities of our workforce.

In fact, one plant manager in Hannibal told me that his company decides where to expand based largely upon the quality of an area's community college. Our people should take a backseat to no one...I'm proud of our citizens, and I know you are, too. We should never sell their talents short.

But unfortunately...and you knew I was coming to this...last year the talents of our people were indeed sold short.

For the first time in the history of our state, this legislature cut the total education budget by hundreds of millions of dollars and endangered the futures of countless children. Over the last decade, we had been investing in our public schools and getting results.

Our eighth grade students are above the national average in math skills, we have made significant gains in reading proficiency, our ACT scores continue to rise, and we have 176 schools of distinction when measured on our scale of tough standards. More of our students are taking a rigorous curriculum, we've more than doubled the number of nationally certified teachers, and our schools are being held accountable with school report cards.

But after a decade of investment and progress, you passed last year's education cuts twice over my veto with a great flourish of bravado. If last year's education cuts are allowed to stand, all of these gains are in great jeopardy.

There is nothing moral in raising standards and expectations at a struggling school, only to deny the necessary funding. Look at this through a child's eyes - first we encouraged them to dream, then you denied them the means. That's not bravado. That's just cruel.

Those of you on the other side of the aisle chose to defend tax breaks for corporations at the expense of our children's education. And we're already seeing the consequences of your actions.

College tuition is up as much as 20 percent. One thousand four hundred teachers have lost their jobs. Some kindergarten classes have over 30 students, and alternative schools for disruptive students are being shut down. This, of course, leads to more disruption in the classroom and higher dropout rates.

Some of you obviously think there is courage in cutting education funding. But where is the courage in merely shifting the burden onto local property owners?

Where is the courage in forcing your local constituents to raise property taxes to make up the difference?

And where is the courage in siding with gambling and tobacco interests over the welfare of our children in public schools?

Your failure to meet your constitutional obligations has caused the courts to be dragged back into Missouri schools.

Many of you preach the politics of less government. Well, you brought the courts into our classrooms. It's time you take responsibility and help get the lawyers and the lawsuits out.

Let us be frank and realistic about public school funding. Your approach will have the consequence of forcing local property tax increases.

Some in this chamber may live in communities of great means. And as you look out the windows of your home, a small increase in property taxes may not seem like much of a sacrifice. But you are wrong. Every community has those on the margins who are barely surviving - who can hardly afford the property taxes they already pay. Maybe you can't see them from your front window, but they exist all the same.

Many communities will never be able to increase property taxes enough to make up for last year's education cuts.

The ultimate end of your abdication of duty is starvation and consolidation. By starving local communities of education funding, you leave some with no other choice but to shut down schools and deprive those children of opportunity.

You may not see these children from the comfort of your front window. But they exist all the same.

And finally, there are seniors throughout Missouri who cannot afford higher property taxes, even though their hearts are with our schools. They, like my parents and some of yours, sacrificed their entire lives to provide their children with a college education. Often it was an education that they themselves never had.

You may never see these seniors from your window. But they exist all the same. You have asked in this chamber before - "what part of 'No' do I not understand?"

Well, I say in return that I will never understand doing real and lasting harm to our children and seniors. I believe our citizens deserve better than that.

Last year, we disagreed on whether Missouri had a spending problem or a revenue problem. Let's not have that disagreement again. Throughout my years as Governor, I have worked to control spending. I have cut more than 3,000 jobs from state government and over $1.2 billion in government spending...more than any other Governor in Missouri history.

Missouri is not a free spending state. In fact, we rank 46th in per capita spending and 49th in the average salary of our government employees.

During last year's budget debate, I accepted every cut you put forward, and still you could not provide me with a balanced budget without devastating education. You cut all the fat you could find, so cutting was clearly not the entire solution.

This year, I will continue my efforts to reduce waste and improve government efficiency. In fact, I have identified another $100 million in program and service reductions that are part of my overall plan to balance our budget.

But the essence of our problem is unchanged. Yes, we have reached agreement on projected revenues for next year. But they won't be near enough to repair the damage that you have done to Missouri schools.

If we are to meet our responsibilities to educate our children, we will need additional revenue through the least painful means. I will not rest until we have restored the funding you cut from schools in this state. If you thought this issue was settled, think again.

You already know my plan to raise revenue...increasing the cigarette tax and casino taxes, closing corporate loopholes, and placing a small surcharge on the income tax of the wealthiest 1.4 percent of Missourians.

You've heard my plan before. And you have spoken. But the vast majority of Missourians haven't spoken. Your refusal to allow our citizens to vote on this plan robs them of their voice and of their opportunity to succeed.

I think Missouri is better than that. One way or another, the education cuts you inflicted last year must not stand. I say this not to stand against you...but because I have a duty to stand up for Missouri's children.

By increasing revenues and closing corporate loopholes, we can restore school funding without a general tax increase. We can add the money necessary to improve our foster care system without a general tax increase.

And we can give modest raises to our state workers - like those who work in foster care or child abuse prevention. Some have not seen a cost of living increase in three years. Keep in mind our state employees are working people who face the same challenges and needs as any other working person, and they deserve our respect. They are not simply expendable boxes on an organizational chart.

Even those professionals that some of you belittle as "middle management bureaucrats" - they keep this complex operation running, and they protect our citizens. State employees are being asked to do more with less every year.

My budget, while providing additional cuts, does give a slight raise to these hard working Missourians, and believe me, when the lives of our most vulnerable are at stake, keeping our best people on the job is not asking too much.

I believe in looking forward. And that is a part of our shared history in Missouri.

As you know, I often speak in these State of the State addresses from the perspective of history. And this year, we celebrate one of our country's most historic events - the two hundredth anniversary of Lewis and Clark's incredible journey. Their exploration of the Missouri River is a truly inspiring tale of heroism and daring. In spite of many obstacles, they pressed forward on their journey west.

But today, I think it is important to honor the heroes of our time...seemingly ordinary people who perform extraordinary service. The soldiers we honored today knew the dangers of their job. But they got up every day, pressed forward, and faced them anyway.

We will never know the true depth of their courage or their fear, but we do know this - we know they will be remembered. And in the memory of those who loved them, they will always be young.

I believe each of us has a calling. For those soldiers, it was defending something larger than themselves.

For our teachers, it's rising to the challenge of shaping our youngest, most vulnerable minds.

For our state workers, it's securing the safety and well-being of our citizens.

And for our citizens, it's helping secure a brighter future for generations to come.

For those of us in this chamber, our calling is simple - we must work together to move Missouri forward.

This is not a battlefield. It's public service. No more talk of war. Let us talk of getting something done for the people of Missouri.

Thank you, God bless you, and may God bless this great state.

On motion of Senator Gibbons, the Joint Session was dissolved and the Senators returned to the Chamber where they were called to order by Senator Bartle.

Henry Hungerbeeler

State of Transportation Address

January 28, 2004

Governor Holden, Governor Maxwell, Speaker Hanaway, President Pro Tem Kinder, Distinguished State Officials, Chief Justice White, Honored Members of the Missouri Supreme Court, Members of the 92nd General Assembly, Members of the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission, MoDOT Employees and Citizens of Missouri:

It is my great honor to stand before you today on this historic occasion. Searching as far back as House and Senate journals have been printed, which is about 70 years, we have been able to identify no other director of a state agency given the humbling opportunity to address a joint session of the Missouri General Assembly.

I thank you for allowing me to come before this esteemed body and address the important issue of our transportation system.

While most people think of MoDOT as dealing primarily with roads and bridges, we are a full-service department of transportation, and must address our responsibilities to all of our citizens. Therefore, we deal with public transportation, aviation, port development, and both freight and passenger railway service.

And in each of those areas and others for which we are responsible, we see the need for more resources to provide the mobility our citizens need.

As we work together to address our transportation challenges, we should keep three broad principles in mind: ---- Soundness, Safety and Support.

Soundness

The soundness of your transportation system has been called into question, as has the soundness of your department of transportation.

Distinguished ladies and gentleman, the state of Missouri's transportation system is sound, but not as sound as it needs to be.

Many of our highways are in poor condition...too narrow, or too hilly, or too curving, or have no shoulders, and for safety and economic development we need to make more highways four lanes. At the same time, bridges that are one step away from being closed, what we call condition three bridges, are becoming unusable faster than we can get money to replace them.

Many citizens sit in long lines during rush hour traffic, wasting both time and money.

Court mandated low flows on our rivers are impacting the movement of water-borne commerce, causing more trucks on highways and a higher transportation cost for farmers.

MoDOT administers state and federal funds for 37 public transportation agencies and 200 specialized programs for the elderly and disabled, but we have a significant need to offer more public transportation options in our large cities and rural areas alike.

Unfortunately, those transportation areas funded from state general revenue have been cut 37% since 2002. The result is more than 1.8 million fewer transit trips and the elimination of our port improvement program. The truth is Missouri has not provided the funding necessary to adequately address most of these other modal needs or the larger dollar requirements to repair and rehabilitate highways and bridges while simultaneously constructing much-needed highway projects for economic development and congestion relief.

Our funding situation is dramatically demonstrated by the fact that 25 years ago, 17 percent of Missouri's state budget went to transportation. Now only 7.5 percent of state spending goes toward vital improvements to our highways, bridges, transit services, and other modes of transportation.

Interestingly, if our transportation budget had grown at the same rate as the rest of state government, our system today would be in outstanding condition, and long ago we would have completed projects that people are still waiting for us to schedule.

Though I believe inadequate funding is our biggest problem, I do not come before you today with a specific funding proposal. I am here to present the facts about transportation in Missouri so that state elected officials, working in conjunction with MoDOT and the citizens of this great state, can decide how best to address our inadequate transportation system.

This body has already done much to address the problem, passing legislation dealing with accountability, MoDOT leadership, commission governance, and other issues. MoDOT and the Commission have also made changes.

The Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission has provided a better balance in our spending by shifting more adequate funding to taking better care of the existing system. A year ago the commission changed the funding allocation method to a more objective process that allocates funds to various areas of the state and various categories of spending based on such objective factors as pavement condition, vehicle miles traveled, population, employment, etc.

Changing our method of allocating funds was a wise decision. Nevertheless, we are keenly aware that the state of our transportation system is still not as sound as it needs to be.

The state of your Department of Transportation, however, is sound...not perfect by any means... but good.

An independent Blue Ribbon Panel appointed by the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission recently recommended that a clear message must be sent indicating, "A new day has dawned at MoDOT." I believe that the new day is well on its way.

Although the department had problems with financial estimates in the past, MoDOT has now established a solid record of sound fiscal practices.

We have reduced staff by approximately 300 people over the last three years. Less than three percent of our budget goes toward administrative costs while we spend 73 percent on construction including building new highways and taking better care of existing roadways. Please note that if our budget were more adequate, that percentage for administrative costs would be even lower, and the percentage spent on construction would be even higher.

We have saved $53 million over the last three years by streamlining our operations and we expect to save another $21 million this year. We also saved millions last year by coming within a fraction of a percent on our highway construction cost estimates. Those savings were directed back into building and maintaining highways.

Part of our efficiency comes from our constitutional form of governance... the bipartisan watchdog group of citizens who oversee us. As you know, the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission is made up of unpaid citizen volunteers who are among the leading members of their communities. Commissioners are appointed by the governor with approval of the Senate and they conduct business in full view of taxpayers.

This system of transportation oversight and decision-making by members of the public has served the people of Missouri well for more than 80 years by limiting political influence and parochialism in transportation decision-making, and it has become more open to public involvement in recent years than ever before in our history. We should keep the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission in its current form.

Members of the Commission are here today and will be available in the rotunda following this speech to answer your questions. I applaud their unselfish service to this state and their commitment to providing all Missourians with better transportation options.

MoDOT is scrupulously held accountable through numerous audits each year. The State Auditor reviews our operations on an ongoing basis, as do our internal auditors. Additionally, an independent firm audits us annually. In 2003, they gave MoDOT their highest rating for the fourth straight year and said our financial practices are "as good as it gets."

At the same time, MoDOT employs an inspector general to root out fraud, waste, and abuse and objectively investigate grievances independent of management. An external inspector general position was created by the state legislature last year, and we look forward to working closely with that person. Additionally, we are accountable to the Senate and House Transportation Committees and the Joint Committee on Transportation Oversight. Plus, the Senate Appropriations Committee and House Budget Committee review MoDOT each year.

Most importantly, we are, and want to be, accountable to the people of Missouri. Whether at the ballot box, on the phone, at their computers or attending one of the hundreds of public meetings we hold each year, the citizens of this state have direct input into what we do. We have pledged to listen to them and we are fulfilling that pledge.

We have embarked on a new project planning process that will permit even more public involvement in transportation decisions than ever before. No longer will MoDOT alone make project decisions and inform citizens after the fact. We are committed to having local representatives at the table from the beginning to the end.

MoDOT's construction and maintenance practices are also sound.

In 2003, we completed 268 construction projects, all of which, taken together, were within two percent of cost estimates. This record is part of a four-year trend during which your department of transportation completed projects at a cost that came within one-third of one percent of the estimated cost on a program that totaled more than $2 billion. In other words, for the last four fiscal years, we have told you in advance what we were going to do...and we have done it.

Others have confirmed the soundness of our construction practices. The Federal Highway Administration has labeled MoDOT as one of the best transportation agencies among all 50 states at delivering promised highway and bridge improvements at the promised price to taxpayers.

Citizens tell us good visibility on highways is very important to them. They especially want to see highway stripes. We listened, and took action. In 2003, we quietly promised to paint centerline stripes on all roads, and paint edge lines on more roads. We delivered on that promise by putting down 82,000 miles of stripes last year. That's an increase of 13,000 miles.

Our improvements, however, are not limited to highways. In the last 18 months, MoDOT improved aviation safety by installing nine Automated Weather Observation Systems to provide accurate and real time weather information to pilots. Four more are currently under construction.

Our state aviation improvement program is funded through dedicated aviation fuel tax revenue, which is down over 25% since 9-11. Despite the funding decrease, MoDOT was able to install additional navigational aids or make runway pavement improvements at nine Missouri airports.

That is a sound record of significant accomplishment, and much of it is in direct response to concerns citizens have expressed to us.

In addition, MoDOT is sound in its commitment to inclusiveness.

MoDOT has been cited as a leader in state government regarding the award of contracts to Minority- and Women-owned Businesses. Between 1996 and 2002, the department awarded nearly half a billion dollars in contracts to disadvantaged business enterprises. In 2002, MoDOT contracts with these businesses amounted to approximately 73 million dollars, almost twice as much as in 1996. We are committed to doing even better.

At the same time, we are aggressively leading efforts to increase the number of minorities, females and underemployed and low-income individuals entering the construction industry on which this department is so heavily dependent. We are extremely proud of our active involvement in the St. Louis Construction Prep Center that is preparing members of these groups to succeed in the construction field through training for the work place and for life. Graduates of the center are actively sought out by the construction industry due to the excellent training it provides.

I am honored to have a graduate of the center, Mr. Tyrone Gibbs, here today. With Mr. Gibbs' permission, let me tell you a little bit about him. Mr. Gibbs grew up in three different foster homes and three different boys' homes. He spent 12 years on the streets, which resulted in his being incarcerated on three different occasions. Just one week after his last stint in the state penitentiary, Mr. Gibbs got the news that would change his life. He was accepted to the Construction Prep Center.

Second only to his wife, Barbara, Mr. Gibbs credits the Construction Prep Center with keeping him from continuing down the wrong path in life. Mr. Gibbs' "No Day Off, No Lay Off" attitude allowed him to work 40 hours per week at the center and another 50 hours supporting his family. It also allowed him to advance quickly.

He is now a crew chief -- one of only three African-American foremen out of hundreds of carpenters where he works. He hopes to have his own construction company some day. Mr. Gibbs is what the Construction Prep Center is all about. Tyrone and Barbara Gibbs... please stand up and get the recognition you both deserve.

The state of your MoDOT is sound and that is due primarily to one thing - our outstanding workforce. I was proud to serve my country in the United States Air Force for more than 30 years. I can say unequivocally, however, that I have never had the honor to serve with a harder-working, more dedicated group of people than I have at MoDOT.

Throughout our great state, your friends, family and neighbors who work for MoDOT get up early everyday proudly striving for a better, safer transportation system for all Missourians. They toil with limited resources, yet they deliver on the promises we have made to taxpayers.

I am proud to work with "everyday heroes" at MoDOT, some of whom put their lives on the line everyday.

Bill Pappademos (Papa-DEE-mus) works for MoDOT's Motorist Assist service in St. Louis, a service that cost effectively helps to reduce congestion. On December 8 of last year, Bill looked in his rearview mirror and noticed a vehicle rolling over several times behind him. He carefully stopped and backed up and discovered that the driver, an off-duty police officer, had been thrown from his car and was lying in one of the traffic lanes. Bill placed himself between the seriously injured officer and on coming traffic to protect him until emergency responders could arrive.

When a record number of tornadoes ripped through southwest Missouri in 2003, our employees reacted without hesitation. Maintenance crews from Bolivar in our District 8 region gathered quickly and headed to Stockton, which is in District 7, the night of May 4 following one of the most devastating tornadoes our state has ever experienced. They pulled trees and debris out of the road to allow emergency crews to access victims and to allow motorists to use our highways safely.

We also responded to the human needs of our neighbors during this challenging time. Garland DeWitt, a MoDOT maintenance specialist in Ozark, was working north of Cleaver when he discovered a series of personal items. He recovered family photos, cups from a silver tea set and clothing items for a family who lost a loved one and their home in the storm. This was a priceless discovery for that family.

Heroes also work in the offices of MoDOT. Rebecca Jackson, a MoDOT General Services Manager here in Jefferson City, led efforts to develop a new purchasing method for the department. Her innovative and diligent efforts have saved time and countless taxpayer dollars. This great achievement recently earned her the Distinguished Service Award from the Missouri Association of Public Purchasing.

Bill, Garland, and Rebecca are here today. I would like to ask them to stand.

I am so proud to be associated with folks like Bill, Garland and Rebecca. They are typical of everyday heroes who work throughout the Missouri Department of Transportation. Whether they are helping a customer on the phone, clearing snow from our highways, finding ways to save money or risking their life for an injured motorist, MoDOT employees consistently answer the call of duty. Their commitment is sound.

There is one final "everyday hero" I personally could not live without and want you to meet...the "first lady" in my life...my lovely wife, Anne. Her commitment is sound.

Tragically, 68 MoDOT employees have given their lives since 1945 fulfilling their call to duty. Our most recent loss was just a few months ago. On September 30, 2003, Karla Baublitz, a maintenance worker, was repairing mowing equipment several feet from a roadway in Joplin when a driver fell asleep, ran off the road and struck her.

Karla was hard working and well liked by her colleagues. She was dedicated to her MoDOT family, but she couldn't wait to get home to her own family, which included three children.

MoDOT employees have difficult, sometimes dangerous, jobs and face many challenges. Yet they persevere together in cooperation with the customers they serve, local citizens and our elected officials. I have started to see the positive effects of their determination.

In every county of this state, the good work of MoDOT professionals is turning the tide of public opinion.

Last year, MoDOT officials again embarked on a listening tour of Missouri. We visited cities and towns throughout this beautiful state and heard a familiar refrain, "we love our local MoDOT". The praise for our district employees and the district engineers who lead them was profuse. And they frequently helped make the point that all of us in MoDOT are on the same team. Those district engineers are here today. You know them and they are at your service. They, too, will be available in the rotunda to answer questions about transportation in their areas.

As we traveled the state late last year, people said that the MoDOT they know is open to their inquiries and responsive to their concerns. While members of the public don't always get the answers they want, they do get answers in a timely and courteous way.

They also get results. MoDOT employees are dedicated to finding ways to say "yes" more often and to ending the perception that we automatically say "no." While we sometimes have a professional responsibility to say "no", we are working very hard on saying "yes".

Ladies and gentlemen, we are your neighborhood MoDOT. We care about the safety of the people who use our state highways. We care about the elderly and disabled who rely on the transit services we administer. And we care about providing reliable options in all modes of transportation.

We realize, however, that we are not perfect and we must constantly strive to improve the way we do business and build credibility with the public. With this thought always at the forefront of our minds, we are taking steps to further improve our effectiveness as an organization.

We are seeking to measure our progress toward goals such as reducing injury and fatal crash rates; increasing the number of highways in good or better condition; reducing the percentage of deficient bridges; alleviating congestion in St. Louis and Kansas City; and avoiding depreciation in the value of our highway system.

We are also measuring the percentage of highway and bridge construction commitments we are meeting within budget, on time and as promised in our 5-year plan. We have high standards in these areas and even higher expectations for meeting our commitments.

All of the goals I have outlined are imperative to rebuilding confidence in MoDOT. We must be diligent in tracking our progress toward them and ultimately achieving them. That will be a sound investment in our future.

Safety

Earlier I mentioned three broad areas for discussion today - soundness, safety and support. Though I've spoken of "soundness" first, safety is the foundation principle we seek in every department activity. It is MoDOT's number one objective. We are constantly exploring ways to make our highways and other transportation services safer for everyone. We have instituted better work zone guidelines to limit the number of crashes in highway construction areas. We emphasize internal safety practices to keep our employees and customers safe. And now we, with safety partners such as the Highway Patrol and many others, are developing Missouri's first Comprehensive Highway Safety Plan.

Too many people are dying on Missouri's roads. Over the past three years we have lost 3,463 Missourians to traffic accidents. That averages out to 1,154 per year. If we lost that many people in airplane crashes, it would be totally unacceptable. We need that same level of concern regarding the unacceptable number of motorists who don't make it to their destinations safely.

Working with our transportation partners, we will seek to channel the heartache of past traffic accidents into a safety plan that prevents pain and tears in the future. Our goal is to reduce the number of fatalities on our roads significantly by the end of 2008. Failing to meet this objective is not an option. We can do it together. It's a goal we can and must reach!

In order to reduce roadway deaths appreciably each year, we will need the help of our friends in highway safety. Cooperation is vital to achieving our goal of saving more motorists' lives.

By this summer, Missouri will have a Comprehensive Highway Safety Plan that focuses on the four "Es" - Engineering, Enforcement, Education, and Emergency services. The plan will outline ways to engineer safer roads, to better enforce vital traffic laws, to educate the public about how they can operate vehicles more safely, and to improve the emergency services that respond to traffic crashes.

The lives of those who use our highways are too precious to not act. Safety must be a priority and your support is essential to achieving our safety goals.

Support

Your MoDOT is poised to make great strides toward improving the soundness and safety of the transportation system of this state, but we need the support of the governor, statewide officials, the General Assembly and every citizen of Missouri to move toward better highways, bridges and public transportation options.

We need your support to end the diversion of fuel tax funds to purposes other than building and maintaining state highways and bridges, and enforcing the laws relating to them. The people of Missouri pay fuel taxes as well as other taxes, licensing charges and fees with the expectation that their hard-earned money is going toward highway improvements and traffic enforcement, and that's what the public wants the money to go for.

We understand the fiscal constraints the state is in, but reducing diversions is a course we must all pursue.

It will take an act of this state legislature and perhaps a statewide vote of the people of Missouri to end some of these diversions, but I repeat... it is a course we must pursue. The vital functions of other state agencies should be funded through sources outside of transportation dollars. Missourians expect highway revenues to go toward improving our highway system and that is where they should be used.

Another initiative we could take to address our extensive highway needs is utilizing toll roads to a limited extent. This too would require action by the General Assembly and statewide voter approval.

Many people fear that giving MoDOT the authority to use tolls will mean a tollbooth on every street corner. I can assure you that will not happen. In actuality, it would be feasible to place tolls on only a few major projects in Missouri. Legislation already filed lists only six specific projects. Those projects are certainly subject to debate. They have not yet been approved by anyone. But in every case, they are projects that are not currently funded and may never exist without some additional form of substantial revenue. Tolling should be a tool in Missouri's transportation toolbox. It will not solve our funding problems, but it will be another step toward meeting our highway needs.

Tolling could help us provide sounder, safer highways, but highway safety is also the responsibility of each of us who set foot in a motor vehicle. Therefore, it is imperative that we enact legislation to encourage safer conduct when driving or when a passenger in a vehicle on our state's roads. The unsafe conduct of a few imposes enormous suffering and costs on the rest of us.

Two safety-related issues, banning open containers of alcohol in vehicles and passing and enforcing a primary seat belt law, will save lives and money and won't cost us a cent. Not only does it make sense to ban open containers from vehicles, but also it would end the mandatory diversion of three percent of our federal highway construction funds to other purposes.

We must also pass a primary seat belt law. That means enacting a measure allowing law enforcement officers to pull people over and ticket them solely for not wearing a safety belt. The United States Department of Transportation estimates that if seat belt usage were to increase from 75 percent to 90 percent, 4,000 lives would be saved nationally each year. No state has ever approached that usage level, however, without a primary seat belt law. One loss of life is too high a price to pay. We must act and give new meaning to the phrase "click it or ticket."

There is a clear humanitarian incentive to save lives through a primary safety belt law. At the same time, an additional financial incentive may come from the federal government. Every version of the federal transportation reauthorization bill currently being considered in Congress recognizes the enormous costs to society of traffic crashes, and therefore contains financial incentives for enacting primary safety belt laws. Missouri could miss out on millions of additional dollars for our highways, if we do not act.

MoDOT has been working closely with Missouri's congressional delegation for more than a year to ensure that our state's share of federal transportation funds increases during the reauthorization process underway. We are encouraged by the funding levels in federal legislation being discussed that could hold the promise of about $233 million more per year for transportation in Missouri over the next six years.

All funds received from the federal government for highway purposes, however, must be matched at a 20 percent rate with state funds. It is imperative that we make sure we have enough state funding to avoid losing a dollar of federal funds. Additional state revenue will have to be identified.

We are aware of the severe funds shortage in state government, but it is time to make constructive plans for the critical transportation needs of this state. We cannot leave our transportation system in worse shape than we found it and pass our problems on to our children and grandchildren. We must act now to provide for safer, smoother highways, better bridges and expanded public transportation options.

We in MoDOT will soon be coming to the citizens of Missouri with pleas to help us update the vision for transportation that all of us should share. As we update our long-range transportation plan, we must be guided by the needs that citizens feel and the opportunities our state's geographic location present to us.

As most of you know, my days with MoDOT are coming to a close. When I began this job, I was a newcomer to Missouri. Over the past five years, this great state has become my home and many of you have become my friends. I have come to believe certain things very passionately.

I believe that the employees of MoDOT are well-meaning, committed public servants and they want nothing more than to provide Missourians with the world-class transportation system they deserve.

I believe that our state and federal elected officials are dedicated to improving the lives of all Missourians and will not rest until steps are taken to dramatically improve transportation in this state.

And I believe in the people of this great state. I have quoted several numbers regarding the needs of our transportation system and various funding facts. Transportation, however, is not about numbers. It is about people.

It is about the mothers and fathers who drive to work each morning and the sons and daughters who count on them to return home safely every evening. It is about grandparents who rely on OATS buses to get to the grocery store and to the health care services they need. It is about children on school buses, walking on sidewalks or riding their bikes. It is about safety, jobs, commerce, security, recreation and all the other factors that contribute to a high quality of life.

These reasons are why I believe so strongly that we must improve our transportation system for all Missourians. And the people of this state are why I believe we can do it. Missourians personify the show-me spirit of our state and, when it comes to transportation, they have said, "If you don't show us, we will show you."

The citizens of Kirksville overwhelmingly voted to increase their local taxes to help pay for a four-lane highway that will be completed in 2005. Hollister, a town of 2,600 people, is contributing $6.5 million to help us build an interchange. High school students in Canton lost friends in traffic accidents and resolved to do all they could to keep it from happening to someone else. Concerned citizens in O'Fallon, Poplar Bluff, St. Roberts, Washington, Hannibal, Lebanon, Springfield and countless other communities are stepping forward to say, "How can we help build the highway projects that we so desperately need?"

It is this can-do attitude that makes me believe in the people of Missouri. And I believe that, if we all work together, then we will truly witness a new day dawning on Missouri's transportation horizon. Let's make it happen in this capitol, at the ballot box and on every highway and byway of this great state. The soundness of our transportation system and the safety of our citizens depend on the support we give each other.

Thank you and may God bless your travels.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Kinder offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 33

WHEREAS, for many years, residents in the greater St. Louis area enjoyed regular airline service by TWA to and from Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA); and

WHEREAS, St. Louis is a large market, with over 2.6 million people in the St. Louis Metropolitan Statistical Area, and for the year 2003, the St. Louis-Washington market (not including BWI) ranked 13th among Washington destinations inside the 1,250-mile perimeter with 243,302 passengers; and

WHEREAS, because TWA was the dominant airline in St. Louis, fares were relatively high, especially for business travelers who often traveled on a few days' notice. When American Airlines acquired TWA several years ago, they significantly reduced their presence in St. Louis and service to Washington, D.C. has suffered as a result; and

WHEREAS, American Airlines now operates its DCA to STL services using regional jets with a seating capacity of 50 or less seats, United Airlines operates three daily roundtrips using regional jets between St. Louis and Dulles, and Southwest Airlines only flies to BWI, not to DCA or Dulles; and

WHEREAS, with such a lack of competition for flights to Washington, D.C., Primaris, a new entrant airline, would introduce competition in the market served currently only by American Airlines; and

WHEREAS, Primaris proposes to operate a twice-daily premium service between STL and DCA using Boeing 757 aircraft with 126-seat capacity in a two-by-two configuration for passenger comfort; and

WHEREAS, Primaris will provide this premium service which is equal to or better than the current business class service and will offer fares significantly lower than most coach class fares of American Airlines' commuter affiliates that now conduct DCA-STL operations; and

WHEREAS, while recognizing that the United States Congress has given the federal Department of Transportation authority to grant only a few slot exemptions, given the size of the St. Louis market and the current lack of competition on the DCA-STL route, approval of Primaris Airlines' application is strongly recommended to serve the St. Louis-Washington, D.C. market:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Senate of the Ninety-second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby urge the United States Department of Transportation to grant approval to Primaris Airlines' application in Docket OST 2000-7182 for the operation of twice-daily service between Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA) and Lambert-St. Louis International Airport (STL); and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the Honorable Norman Y. Mineta, Secretary of Transportation, and each member of the Missouri Congressional Delegation.

The board shall file with the recorder of deeds a notice of satisfaction when the delinquent amounts, any interest on the delinquent amounts and any recording fees or attorney fees have been paid in full. All water districts created after the effective date of this section shall be exempt from all recording fees.

4. The lien authorized in this section may be enforced by an action filed in the circuit court having jurisdiction in the county where water services are delivered. SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 5

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 715, Page 33, Section 190.306, Line 11, of said page, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"260.830. 1. Any county of the third classification or [any county of the second classification with more than forty-eight thousand two hundred but less than forty-eight thousand three hundred inhabitants or] any county of the fourth classification with more than forty-eight thousand two hundred but less than forty-eight thousand three hundred inhabitants may, by a majority vote of its governing body, impose a landfill fee pursuant to this section and section 260.831, for the benefit of the county. No order or ordinance enacted pursuant to the authority granted by this section shall be effective unless the governing body of the county submits to the qualified voters of the county, at a public election, a proposal to authorize the governing body of the county to impose a fee under the provisions of this section. The ballot of submission shall be in substantially the following form:

Shall the county of (insert name of county) impose a landfill fee of (insert amount of fee per ton or volumetric equivalent of solid waste)?

[] YES [] NO

If a majority of the votes cast on the proposal by the qualified voters voting thereon are in favor of the proposal, then the order or ordinance and any amendments thereto shall become effective on the first day of the calendar quarter immediately after such election results are certified. If a majority of the votes cast by the qualified voters voting are opposed to the proposal, then the governing body of the county shall have no power to impose the fee authorized by this section unless and until the governing body of the county shall again have submitted another proposal to authorize the governing body of the county to impose such fee, and the proposal is approved by a majority of the qualified voters voting thereon. With the exception of any county of the fourth classification with more than forty-eight thousand two hundred but less than forty-eight thousand three hundred inhabitants, if an economic development authority does not exist in a county at the time that a landfill fee is adopted by such county under this section, then the governing body of such county shall establish an economic development authority in the county.

2. The landfill fee authorized by such an election may not exceed one dollar and fifty cents per ton or its volumetric equivalent of solid waste accepted, which charge may be in addition to any such fee currently imposed pursuant to the provisions of section 260.330.

260.831. 1. Each operator of a solid waste sanitary or demolition landfill in any county wherein a landfill fee has been approved by the voters pursuant to section 260.830 shall collect a charge equal to the charge authorized by the voters in such election, not to exceed one dollar and fifty cents per ton or its volumetric equivalent of solid waste accepted. Such fee shall be collected in addition to any fee authorized or imposed pursuant to the provisions of section 260.330, and shall be paid to such operator by all political subdivisions, municipalities, corporations, entities or persons disposing of solid waste or demolition waste, whether pursuant to contract or otherwise, and notwithstanding that any such contract may provide for collection, transportation and disposal of such waste at a fixed fee. Any such contract providing for collections, transportation and disposal of such waste at a fixed fee which is in force on August 28, 2003, shall be renegotiated by the parties to the contract to include the additional fee imposed by this section. Each such operator shall submit the charge, less collection costs, to the governing body of the county, which shall dedicate such funds for use by the industrial development authority within the county and such funds shall be used by the authority for economic development within the county, except in the case of any county of the fourth classification with more than forty-eight thousand two hundred but less than forty-eight thousand three hundred inhabitants, wherein the funds shall be credited to the county general revenue fund to be expended as prescribed by the county governing body. Collection costs shall be the same as established by the department of natural resources pursuant to section 260.330, and shall not exceed two percent of the amount collected pursuant to this section.

2. The charges established in this section shall be enumerated separately from any disposal fee charged by the landfill. After January 1, 1994, the fee authorized under section 260.830 and this section shall be stated as a separate surcharge on each individual solid waste collection customer's invoice and shall also name the economic development authority which receives the funds. Moneys transmitted to the governing body of the county shall be no less than the amount collected less collection costs and in a form, manner and frequency as the governing body may prescribe. Failure to collect such charge shall not relieve the operator from responsibility for transmitting an amount equal to the charge to the governing body."; and 135.039. 1. An individual, or two or more individuals jointly, may elect to defer the property taxes on their homestead by filing a claim for deferral with the county clerk after January first and on or before October fifteenth of the first year in which deferral is claimed if the individual, or, in the case of two or more individuals filing a claim jointly, the older individual, is sixty-two years of age or older on October fifteenth of the year in which the claim is filed.

2. In order to make the election described in subsection 1 of this section, the individual must have, or in case of two or more individuals filing a claim jointly, all of the individuals together must have household income for the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year in which the claim is filed of less than the maximum upper limit.

3. The county clerk shall forward each claim filed pursuant to this section to the director of revenue which shall determine if the property is eligible for deferral.

4. When the taxpayer elects to defer property taxes for any year by filing a claim for deferral pursuant to subsection 1 of this section, it shall have the effect of:

(1) Deferring the payment of the property taxes levied on the homestead for the year beginning on January first of such year;

(2) Continuing the deferral of the payment by the taxpayer of any property taxes deferred pursuant to section 135.037 to 135.083 for previous years which have not become delinquent pursuant to section 135.061;

(3) Continuing the deferral of the payment by the taxpayer of any future property taxes for as long as the provisions of section 135.041 are met.

5. If a guardian or conservator has been appointed for an individual otherwise qualified to obtain deferral of taxes pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083, the guardian or conservator may act for such individual in complying with the provisions of sections 135.037 to 135.083.

6. 7. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require a spouse of an individual to file a claim jointly with the individual even though the spouse may be eligible to claim the deferral jointly with the individual.

8. Any person aggrieved by the denial of a claim for deferral of homestead property taxes or disqualification from deferral of homestead property taxes may appeal in the manner provided for denial of a claim pursuant to section 143.841, RSMo.

135.041. In order to qualify for tax deferral pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083, the property must meet all of the following requirements when the claim is filed and thereafter so long as the payment of taxes by the taxpayer is deferred:

- (1) The property must be the homestead of the individual or individuals who file the claim for deferral, except for an individual required to be absent from the homestead by reason of health;
- (2) The person claiming the deferral must, by himself or herself or together with his or her spouse, own the fee simple estate or be purchasing the fee simple estate under a recorded instrument of sale, or two or more persons must together own or be purchasing the fee simple estate with rights of survivorship under a recorded instrument of sale if all owners live in the homestead and if all owners apply for the deferral jointly;

- (4) The equity interest in the homestead is a positive number equal to or exceeding ten percent of the true value in money of the homestead;
- (5) The person claiming the deferral must, by himself or herself or together with his or her spouse, show proof of insurance at any time on the homestead in an amount equal to or exceeding the market value as provided in the most recent tax bill of the homestead, to the director of revenue, and the insurance must be kept in place as long as deferral pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083 is maintained.

135.043. 1. A taxpayer's claim for deferral pursuant to section 135.039 shall be in writing on a form supplied by the department and shall:

- (1) Describe the homestead;
- (2) Recite facts establishing the eligibility for the deferral pursuant to the provisions of sections 135.037 to 135.083, including facts that establish that the household income of the individual, or individuals in the household, was, for the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year in which the claim is filed, less than the amount required pursuant to section 135.039;
- (3) Have attached any documentary proof required by the director to show that the requirements of sections 135.037 to 135.083 have been met.

2. The claim shall be in the form of an affidavit verifying that the statements contained in the claim are true.

135.045. 1. If eligibility for deferral of homestead property is established as provided in sections 135.037 to 135.083, the director of revenue shall notify the county assessor or collector who shall show on the current ad valorem assessment and tax roll which property is tax-deferred property by an entry clearly designating such property as tax-deferred property.

2. When requested by the director, the tax collector shall send to the director, as soon as the taxes are extended upon the roll, the tax statement for each tax-deferred property.

3. Interest shall accrue on the actual amount of taxes advanced to the county for the tax-deferred property at the rate of six percent per annum.

135.047. 1. In each county in which there is tax-deferred property, the director of revenue shall cause to be recorded in the mortgage records of the county, a list of tax-deferred properties of that county. The list shall contain a description of the property as listed on the assessment roll together with the name of the owner or owners listed thereon.

2. Except as provided in section 135.053, the recording of the tax-deferred properties pursuant to subsection 1 of this section is notice that the director claims a lien against those properties in the amount of the deferred taxes plus interest together with any fees paid to the county clerk in connection with the recording, release or satisfaction of the lien.

3. Notwithstanding any provisions of law to the contrary, the director shall not be required to pay any filing, indexing, or recording fees to the county in connection with the recording, release, or satisfaction of liens against tax-deferred properties of that county in advance or at the time entry is made.

135.049. 1. Upon determining the amount of deferred taxes on tax-deferred property for the tax year, the director shall pay to the respective county tax collectors an amount equivalent to the deferred taxes less two percent thereof. Payment shall be made from the account established pursuant to section 135.083.

2. The director shall maintain records for each deferred property and shall accrue interest only on the actual amount of taxes advanced to the county.

3. If only a portion of taxes are deferred pursuant to section 135.065, the director shall pay the portion that will be deferred for that year to the tax collector and shall provide a separate notice to the county assessor stating the amount of property taxes that the director is paying.

135.051. 1. On or before December fifteenth of each year, the director of revenue shall send a notice to each taxpayer who is qualified to claim deferral of property taxes for the current tax year. The notice shall:

(1) Inform the taxpayer that the property taxes have or have not been deferred in the current year;

(2) Show the total amount of taxes remaining deferred since initial application for deferral and the interest accruing therein to November fifteenth of the current year;

(3) Inform the taxpayer that voluntary payment of the deferred taxes may be made at any time to the director of revenue;

(4) Contain any other information that the director considers necessary to facilitate administration of the homestead deferral program.

2. The director shall give the notice required pursuant to subsection 1 of this section by an unsealed postcard or other form of mail sent to the residence address of the taxpayer as shown in the claim for deferral or as otherwise determined by the director to be the correct address of the taxpayer.

135.053. 1. At the time that the taxpayer elects to defer property taxes pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083 the director of revenue shall estimate the amount of property taxes that will be deferred for a period of five tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, or the year of deferral, whichever is later, and interest thereon. Thereafter, the director shall have a lien in the amount of the estimate. Every five years after filing the initial lien, the director shall file an additional lien for an estimate of the amount of property taxes that will be deferred for the next five years, and interest thereon. The liens provided in this subsection shall be considered part of the public record.

2. The liens created pursuant to subsection 1 of this section shall attach to the property to which the election to defer relates on January first of the first tax year in which the lien is filed.

3. The liens created pursuant to subsection 1 of this section in the amount of the estimate shall have the same priority as other real property tax liens except that the liens of mortgages, trust deeds, or security interests which are recorded or noted on a certificate of title prior in time to the attachment of the liens for deferred taxes shall be prior to the liens for deferred taxes.

4. If during the period of tax deferment, the amount of taxes, interest, and fees exceeds the estimate, the director shall have a lien for the amount of the excess. The liens for the excess shall attach to the property on January first of the tax year in which the excess occurs. The lien for the excess shall have the same priority as other real property tax liens, except that the lien of mortgages, trust deeds, or security interests recorded or noted on any certificate of title prior in time to the date that the director records an amendment to its estimate to reflect its lien for the excess shall be prior to the lien for the excess.

5. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 135.047, the notice of lien for deferred taxes recorded as provided in section 135.047 arising on or after January 1, 2005, shall list the amount of the estimate of deferred taxes, interest and fees made by the director pursuant to subsection 1 of this section and any amendment to the notice to reflect a lien for excess, as described pursuant to subsection 4 of this section, shall list the amount of the excess that the director claims as lien.

6. A lien created pursuant to this section may be foreclosed by the director pursuant to the law relating to foreclosure in civil suits or any other collection methods given the director of revenue. The court may award reasonable attorney fees to the prevailing party in a foreclosure action pursuant to this section.

7. Receipts from foreclosure proceedings shall be credited in the same manner as other repayments of deferred property taxes pursuant to section 135.083.

8. By means of voluntary payment made as provided pursuant to section 135.067, the taxpayer may limit the amount of the lien for deferred taxes created pursuant to this section. If the taxpayer desires that the limit be reflected in the records of the county, the taxpayer must request, subject to any rules adopted by the director, that the director cause a partial satisfaction of the lien to be recorded in the county. Upon receipt of such a request, the director shall cause a partial satisfaction, in the amount of the voluntary payment, to be so recorded. Nothing in this subsection shall affect the priority of the liens of the director, as originally created pursuant to subsections 1 and 4 of this section.

9. Nothing in this section shall affect any lien arising pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083 for taxes assessed before January 1, 2005.

135.059. Subject to section 135.063, all deferred property taxes, including accrued interest, become payable as provided in section 135.061 when:

- (1) The taxpayer who claimed deferment of collection of property taxes on the homestead dies or, if there was more than one claimant, the survivor of the taxpayers who originally claimed deferment of collection of property taxes pursuant to section 135.039 dies;
- (2) Except as provided in section 135.057, the property with respect to which deferment of collection of taxes is claimed is sold, or some person other than the taxpayer who claimed the deferment becomes the owner of the property;
- (3) The tax-deferred property is no longer the homestead of the taxpayer who claimed the deferral, except in the case of a taxpayer required to be absent from such tax-deferred property by reason of health;
- (4) The tax-deferred property, a manufactured structure or floating home, is moved out of the state.

135.061. 1. Whenever any of the circumstances listed in section 135.059 occurs:

- (1) The deferral of taxes for the assessment year in which the circumstance occurs shall continue for such assessment year; and
- (2) The amounts of deferred property taxes, including accrued interest, for all years shall be due and payable on the date of closing or the date of probate to the director of revenue, except as provided in subsection 3 of this section, section 135.063 and section 135.075.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection 1 of this section and section 135.075, when the circumstances occur listed in subsection 4 of section 135.059, the amount of deferred taxes shall be due and payable five days before the date of removal of the property from the state.

3. If the amounts falling due as provided in this section are not paid on the indicated due date, or as extended pursuant to section 135.075, such amounts shall be deemed delinquent as of that date and the property shall be subject to foreclosure as provided in section 135.053.

135.063. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 135.059, when one of the circumstances listed in section 135.059 occurs, the spouse who was not eligible to or did not file a claim jointly with the taxpayer may continue the property in its deferred tax status by filing a claim within the time and in the manner provided pursuant to section 135.039 if:

(1) The spouse of the taxpayer is or will be sixty years of age or older not later than six months from the day the circumstance listed in section 135.059 occurs; and

(2) The property is the homestead of the spouse of the taxpayer and meets the requirements of subsection 2 of section 135.041.

2. A spouse who does not meet the age requirements of subsection 1 of this section but is otherwise qualified to continue the property in its tax-deferred status pursuant to subsection 1 of this section may continue the deferral of property taxes deferred for previous years by filing a claim within the time and in the manner provided pursuant to section 135.039. If a spouse eligible for and continuing the deferral of taxes previously deferred pursuant to this subsection becomes sixty-two years of age prior to October fifteenth of any year, the spouse may elect to continue the deferral of previous years' taxes deferred pursuant to this subsection and may elect to defer the current assessment year's taxes on the homestead by filing a claim within the time and in the manner provided pursuant to section 135.039. Thereafter, payment of the taxes levied on the homestead and deferred pursuant to this subsection and payment of taxes levied on the homestead in the current assessment year and in future years may be deferred in the manner provided in and subject to sections 135.037 to 135.083.

3. Notwithstanding that section 135.039 requires that a claim be filed no later than October fifteenth, if the director of revenue determines that good and sufficient cause exists for the failure of a spouse to file a claim pursuant to this section on or before October fifteenth, the claim may be filed within one hundred eighty days after notice of taxes due and payable pursuant to section 135.037 is mailed or delivered by the director to the taxpayer or taxpayers.

135.065. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 135.039 or any other provision of sections 135.037 to 135.083, if the individual or, in the case of two or more individuals electing to defer property taxes jointly, all of the individuals together, or the spouse who has filed a claim pursuant to section 135.063, has household income that exceeds the maximum upper limit for the tax year that began in the previous calendar year, then for the tax year next beginning, the amount of taxes for which deferral is allowed shall be reduced by fifty cents for each dollar of household income in excess of the maximum upper limit or if that income exceeds the maximum upper limit by a factor of two, the property taxes shall not be deferred.

2. Prior to December first of each year, the director of revenue shall review returns filed pursuant to chapter 143, RSMo, to determine if subsection 1 of this section is applicable for a homestead for the tax year next beginning. If subsection 1 of this section is applicable, the director shall notify by mail the taxpayer or taxpayers electing deferral, and the taxes otherwise to be deferred for the tax year next beginning shall be reduced as provided in subsection 1 of this section or, if household income in excess of the maximum upper limit exceeds the maximum upper limit by a factor of two, the property taxes shall not be deferred.

3. If the taxpayer or taxpayers does not file a return for purposes of chapter 143, RSMo, and the director has reason to believe that the federal adjusted gross income of the taxpayer or taxpayers exceeds the maximum upper limit for the tax year that began in the previous calendar year, the director shall notify by mail the taxpayer or taxpayers electing deferral. If, within thirty days after the notice is mailed, the taxpayer or taxpayers does not file a return pursuant to chapter 143, RSMo, or otherwise satisfy the director that household income does not exceed the maximum upper limit, the director shall again notify the taxpayer or taxpayers, and the taxes otherwise to be deferred for the tax year next beginning shall not be deferred.

4. Nothing in this section shall affect the continued deferral of taxes that have been deferred for tax years beginning prior to the tax year next beginning or the right to deferral of taxes for a tax year beginning after the tax year next beginning if subsection 1 of this section is not applicable for that tax year for the homestead.

5. If, after an initial determination pursuant to this section has been made by the director, upon audit or examination or otherwise, it is discovered that the taxpayer or taxpayers had household income in excess of the limitation provided pursuant to subsection 1 of this section, the director shall determine the amount of taxes deferred that should not have been deferred and give notice to the taxpayer or taxpayers of the amount of taxes that should not have been deferred. The provisions of chapter 143, RSMo, shall apply to a determination of the director pursuant to this section in the same manner as those provisions are applicable to an income tax deficiency. The amount of deferred taxes that should not have been deferred shall bear interest from the date paid by the director until paid at the rate of six percent. A deficiency shall not be assessed pursuant to this section if notice required pursuant to this section is not given to the taxpayer or taxpayers within three years after the date that the director has paid the deferred taxes to the county. Upon payment of the amount assessed as deficiency, and interest, the department shall execute a release in the amount of the payment and the release shall be conclusive evidence of the removal and extinguishment of the lien pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083 to the extent of the payment.

6. If, after an initial determination pursuant to this section has been made by the director, upon claim for refund, audit or examination or otherwise, it is discovered that the taxpayer or taxpayers had household income in the amount of or less than the limitation provided pursuant to subsection 1 of this section, the director shall determine the amount of taxes deferred that should have been deferred and give notice to the taxpayer or taxpayers of the amount of taxes that should have been deferred. The provisions of chapter 143, RSMo, shall apply to a determination of the director pursuant to this section in the same manner as those provisions are applicable to an income tax refund. The amount of the taxes that should have been deferred shall bear interest from the date paid by the taxpayer to the county at the rate established by the director of revenue for refunds until paid. Claim for refund pursuant to this subsection must be filed within three years after the earliest date that the taxpayer or taxpayers is notified by the director that the taxes are not deferred.

7. This section applies to all tax-deferred property, notwithstanding that election to defer taxes is made pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083 before or after January 1, 2005.

135.066. Any taxpayer or taxpayers who have a household income of up to twice the maximum upper limit who have been precluded from deferring any portion of their property tax due to their household income being in excess of the maximum upper limit, may qualify for a deferral of the amount of property tax which has increased on their homestead since January first in the base year. Pursuant to the provisions of this section, the term "base year" shall mean the year beginning January first after the sixty-second birthday of the person otherwise qualified to claim the deferral pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083, however, base year shall not mean any year prior to the year beginning January 1, 2005. Such deferral shall be subject to the provisions of sections 135.037 to 135.083 as if it were a deferral pursuant to section 135.039.

135.067. 1. All payments of deferred taxes shall be made to the director of revenue.

2. Subject to subsection 3 of this section, all or part of the deferred taxes and accrued interest may at any time be paid to the director by:

(1) The taxpayer or the spouse of the taxpayer;

(2) The next of kin of the taxpayer, heir at law of the taxpayer, child of the taxpayer or any person having or claiming a legal or equitable interest in the property.

3. A person listed in subdivision (2) of subsection 2 of this section may make such payments only if no objection is made by the taxpayer within thirty days after the director deposits in the mail notice to the taxpayer of the fact that such payment has been tendered.

4. Any payment made pursuant to this section shall be applied first against accrued interest and any remainder against the deferred taxes. Such payment does not affect the deferred tax status of the property. Unless otherwise provided by law, such payment does not give the person paying the taxes any interest in the property or any claim against the estate, in the absence of a valid agreement to the contrary.

5. The provisions of subsection 4 of this section notwithstanding, if any taxpayer in the deferral program pays part or all of the current year property tax liability in a timely manner, such payment shall be applied against the principal of the deferred taxes and then against any interest, if applicable.

6. When the deferred taxes and accrued interest are paid in full and the property is no longer subject to deferral, the director shall prepare and record in the county in which the property is located a satisfaction of deferred property tax lien.

135.073. 1. If the property on which taxes have been deferred is deeded over to the county at the conclusion of the foreclosure proceedings pursuant to chapter 141, RSMo, the county governing body shall order the county treasurer to pay to the director of revenue from the combined tax collections account the amount of deferred taxes and interest which were not collected by the director of revenue, which payment shall not exceed the amount collected by the foreclosure proceedings minus reasonable expenses incurred by the county as a result of the foreclosure process.

2. Immediately upon payment, the county treasurer shall notify the tax collector of the amount paid to the director for the property which has been deeded to the county.

135.075. 1. If the taxpayer who claimed homestead property tax deferral dies, or if a spouse who continued the deferral pursuant to section 135.063 dies, the director of revenue may extend the time for payment of the deferred taxes and interest accruing with respect to the taxes becoming due and payable pursuant to subsection 2 of section 135.061 where:

(1) The homestead property becomes property of an individual or individuals:

(a) By inheritance or devise; or

(b) If the individual or individuals are heirs or devisees, as defined pursuant to section 472.010, RSMo, in the course of settlement of the estate;

(2) The individual or individuals commence occupancy of the property as a principal residence on or before February fifteenth of the calendar year following the calendar year of death; and

(3) The individual or individuals make application to the director for an extension of time for payment of the deferred taxes and interest prior to February fifteenth of the calendar year following the calendar year of death.

2. (1) Subject to subdivision (2) of this subsection, an extension granted pursuant to this section shall be for a period not to exceed five years after February fifteenth of the calendar year following the calendar year of death. The terms and conditions under which the extension is granted shall be in accordance with a written agreement entered into by the director and the individual or individuals.

(2) An extension granted pursuant to this section shall terminate immediately if:

(a) The homestead property is sold or otherwise transferred by any party to the extension agreement;

(b) All of the heirs or devisees who are parties to the extension agreement cease to occupy the property as a principal residence; or

(c) The homestead property, a manufactured structure or floating home, is moved out of the state.

3. If the director has reason to believe that the homestead property is not sufficient security for the deferred taxes and interest, the director may require the individual or individuals to furnish a bond conditioned upon payment of the amount extended in accordance with the terms of the extension. The bond shall not exceed an amount double the taxes with respect to which tax extension is granted.

4. During the period of extension, and until paid, the deferred taxes shall continue to accrue interest in the same manner and at the same rate as provided pursuant to subsection 3 of section 135.045. No interest shall accrue upon interest.

5. When any taxpayer who claimed homestead property tax deferral dies, the spouse, heirs and devisees, as defined pursuant to section 472.010, RSMo, shall within sixty days notify in writing the director of the taxpayer's death. Notification of the director by one of the aforementioned parties shall satisfy the requirements of this subsection.

135.077. Nothing in section 135.037 to 135.083 is intended to or shall be construed to:

- (1) Prevent the collection, by foreclosure, of property taxes which become a lien against tax-deferred property;
- (2) Defer payment of special assessments to benefitted property which assessments do not appear on the assessment and tax roll;
- (3) Affect any provision of any mortgage or other instrument relating to land requiring a person to pay property taxes.

135.079. After August 28, 2004, it shall be unlawful for any mortgage trust deed or land sale contract to contain a clause or statement which prohibits the owner from applying for the benefits of the deferral of homestead property taxes provided in sections 135.037 to 135.083. Any such clause or statement in a mortgage trust deed or land sale contract executed after August 28, 2004, shall be void.

135.083. 1. There is hereby established in the state treasury the "Senior Property Tax Deferral Revolving Account" to be used by the director of revenue for the purpose of making the payments to:

- (1) County tax collectors of property taxes deferred for tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2005, as required by section 135.049;
- (2) The director for expenses to administer the property tax and special assessment senior deferral programs.

2. The funds necessary to make payments pursuant to subsection 1 of this section shall be advanced annually to the director.

3. The senior property tax deferral revolving account may include a reserve for payment of department administrative expenses.

4. All sums of money received by the director of revenue pursuant to sections 135.037 to 135.083 as repayments of deferred property taxes including the interest accrued pursuant to subsection 3 of section 135.045 shall, upon receipt, be credited to the revolving account for the purposes set forth in sections 135.037 to 135.083 subject to appropriations.

5. If there is not sufficient money in the revolving account to make the payments required by subsection 1 of this section, an amount sufficient to make the required payments may be transferred by appropriations from the general revenue fund to the revolving account.

6. When the department determines that moneys in sufficient amounts are available in the revolving account, the director shall repay to the general revenue fund the amounts advanced pursuant to subsection 2 of this section or if no such transfer is made by the director, the general assembly may transfer excess funds from the revolving account to the general revenue fund. The moneys used to repay the general revenue fund pursuant to this section shall not be considered as part of the calculation of total state revenue. The provisions of section 33.080, RSMo, to the contrary notwithstanding, moneys in the revolving account shall not lapse to general revenue.

7. If there are insufficient funds in the general revenue to provide the necessary funding to the revolving account established in this section, the commissioner of administration may issue revenue bonds pursuant to sections 1 to 6 of this act."; and

Further amend said bill, page 7, section 137.106, line 27 of said page, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"Section 1. As used in sections 1 to 6 of this act, the following words and phrases mean:

(1) "Commissioner", the commissioner of administration;

(2) "Revenue bonds", bonds issued hereunder for the purposes herein authorized and payable, both as to principal and interest, solely and only out of the net income and revenues arising from the operation of the revolving account for which the bonds are issued after providing revenue for such revolving account;

(3) "Revolving account", the senior property tax deferral revolving account established pursuant to section 135.083, RSMo.

Section 2. For the purpose of providing funds for the revolving account, the commissioner may issue and sell revenue bonds, as herein defined, in an amount not to exceed the estimated revenue required to reasonably maintain the revolving account, including costs necessarily incidental thereto. At the time of the issuance of the bonds, the commissioner shall pledge the net income and revenues of the revolving account to the payment of the bonds, both principal and interest, and shall covenant to fix, maintain and collect the reasonable rates and charges for the use of the revolving account that in the judgment of the commissioner will provide revenues sufficient to pay the reasonable cost of operating and maintaining the revolving account; to provide and maintain an interest and sinking fund in an amount adequate promptly to pay the principal of and interest on such bonds; to provide a reasonable reserve fund; and to provide a reasonable fund for depreciation.

Section 3. Any bonds issued under and pursuant to sections 1 to 6 of this act shall not be deemed to be an indebtedness of the state of Missouri or of the commissioner, or of the individual members of the office of administration, and shall not be deemed to be an indebtedness within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory limitation upon the incurring of indebtedness.

Section 4. 1. Bonds issued under and pursuant to the provisions of sections 1 to 6 of this act shall be of such denomination or denominations, shall bear such rate or rates of interest not to exceed fifteen percent per annum, and shall mature at such time or times within forty years from the date thereof, as the commissioner determines. The bonds may be either serial bonds or term bonds.

2. 3. Term bonds shall contain a reservation of the right to call them for payment and redemption prior to maturity at such time or times and upon the giving of such notice, and upon the payment of such premium, if any, as the commissioner determines.

4. Any such bonds may be sold to the United States of America or to any agency or instrumentality thereof, at a price not less than par and accrued interest, without public sale and without the giving of notice as herein provided.

5. The bonds, when issued and sold, shall be negotiable instruments within the meaning of the law merchant and the negotiable instruments law, and the interest thereon shall be exempt from income taxes under the laws of the state of Missouri.

Section 5. 1. The revenue bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of sections 1 to 6 of this act may be refunded, in whole or in part, in any of the following circumstances:

(1) When any such bonds have by their terms become due and payable and there are not sufficient funds in the interest and sinking fund provided for their payment to pay such bonds and the interest thereon;

(2) When any such bonds are by their terms callable for payment and redemption in advance of their date of maturity and are duly called for payment and redemption;

(3) When any such bonds are voluntarily surrendered by the holder or holders thereof for exchange for refunding bonds.

2. For the purpose of refunding any bonds issued hereunder, including refunding bonds, the commissioner may make and issue refunding bonds in the amount necessary to pay off and redeem the bonds to be refunded together with unpaid and past due interest thereon and any premium which may be due under the terms of the bonds, together also with the cost of issuing the refunding bonds, and may sell the same in like manner as is herein provided for the sale of revenue bonds, and with the proceeds thereof pay off, redeem and cancel the old bonds and coupons that have matured, or the bonds that have been called for payment and redemption, together with the past due interest and the premium, if any, due thereon, or the bonds may be issued and delivered in exchange for a like par value amount of bonds to refund which the refunding bonds were issued. No refunding bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of sections 1 to 6 of this act shall be payable in more than forty years from the date thereof or shall bear interest at a rate in excess of six percent per annum.

3. The refunding bonds shall be payable from the same sources as were pledged to the payment of the bonds refunded thereby and, in the discretion of the commissioner, may be payable from any other sources which under sections 1 to 6 of this act may be pledged to the payment of revenue bonds issued hereunder. Bonds of two or more issues may be refunded by a single issue of refunding bonds.

Section 6. The commissioner may prescribe the form, details and incidents of the bonds, and make the covenants that in the commissioner's judgment are advisable or necessary properly to secure the payment thereof; but the form, details, incidents and covenants shall not be inconsistent with any of the provisions of sections 1 to 6 of this act. Such bonds may have the seal of the commissioner impressed thereon or affixed thereto or imprinted or otherwise reproduced thereon. If such bonds shall be authenticated by the bank or trust company acting as registrar for such bonds by the manual signature of a duly authorized officer or employee thereof, the duly authorized officers of the commissioner executing and attesting such bonds, may all do so by facsimile signature provided such signatures have been duly filed as provided in the uniform facsimile signature of public officials law, sections 105.273 to 105.278, RSMo, when duly authorized by resolution of the commissioner and the provisions of section 108.175, RSMo, shall not apply to such bonds. The holder or holders of any bond or bonds issued hereunder or of any coupons representing interest accrued thereon may, by proper civil action either at law or in equity, compel the commissioner to perform all duties imposed upon him or her by the provisions of sections 1 to 6 of this act, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates and charges for the use of the project for which the bonds were issued, and also to enforce the performance of any and all other covenants made by the commissioner in the issuance of the bonds."; and

The department of elementary and secondary education shall identify as a priority school any school building or attendance center that fails to meet acceptable standards of student achievement established by the state board of education and based upon factors which shall include, but not be limited to, student assessments, graduation rate, drop-out rate, school attendance rate, graduate placement in college, vocational or technical school, or high-wage employment and incidence of school violence.

2. The board of education of any district that contains a priority school shall submit a comprehensive school improvement plan that provides for the following:

(1) Identification of the areas of academic deficiency in student performance on the statewide assessment established pursuant to section 160.518 by disaggregating scores based upon school, grade, academic content area and student demographic subgroups, which shall include, but shall not be limited to, race, ethnicity, disability status, migrant status, limited English proficiency, and economic disadvantage;

(2) Implementation of research-based strategies to assist the priority school in addressing the areas of deficiency;

(3) Alignment of the priority school's curriculum to address deficiencies in student achievement;

(4) Reallocation of district resources to address the areas of academic deficiency, which shall include focusing available funding on professional development in the areas of deficiency; and

(5) Listing of all school buildings and attendance centers declared to be priority schools in the district's annual school accountability report distributed pursuant to section 160.522.

3. The state board of education may appoint a team to conduct an educational audit of any priority school to determine the factors that have contributed to the lack of student achievement and shall give audit priority to schools based upon failure to meet standards of student achievement as established pursuant to this section.

(1) An audit team shall include an experienced teacher and an experience administrator and the size of the audit team shall be based upon the size of the school to be audited;

(2) The audit team shall report its findings to the state board of education and the local board of education;

(3) The state board may require all or part of those findings to be addressed in the comprehensive school improvement plan required pursuant to this section.

4. Comprehensive school improvement plans shall be evaluated based upon standards established pursuant to subsection 2 of this section and upon the following timelines:

(1) The comprehensive school improvement plan shall be submitted to the department of elementary and secondary education on or before August fifteenth following any school year in which a school district building meets the criteria established under subsection 1 of this section;

(2) The department of elementary and secondary education shall review and identify areas of concern in the plan within sixty days of receipt; and

(3) Changes to the plan shall be forwarded to the department of elementary and secondary education within sixty days of notice to the district of the areas of concern.

5. The department of elementary and secondary education shall withhold funds authorized in section 163.031, RSMo, from any school district that fails to submit a comprehensive school improvement plan based upon the standards and timelines established in this section. Withheld funds shall be released upon submission of a comprehensive school improvement plan that meets the established requirements.

6. Designation as a priority school and the effectiveness of the school district in implementing the comprehensive school improvement plan required under this section shall be considered by the state board of education in the school district's accreditation granted pursuant to section 161.092, RSMo.

7. No rule or portion of a rule promulgated under this section shall become effective unless it has been promulgated pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo.

[160.538. 1. By July 1, 1996, the state board of education shall develop a procedure and criteria for determining that a school in a school district is "academically deficient". In making such a determination for any school, the state board of education shall consider the results for the school from the assessment system developed pursuant to the provisions of section 160.518 together with the results from the education audit performed under subsection 2 of this section.

2. (1) Prior to a decision that a school is academically deficient, the state board of education shall appoint an audit team of at least ten persons to conduct an education audit of the school to determine the factors that have contributed to the lack of student achievement at the school as measured by the district assessment system and make a finding as to whether the school is academically deficient. The specific standards and implementation of the education audit shall be pursuant to rules adopted by the state board of education.

(2) The audit team shall report its findings to the state board. If the audit team finds that the school is academically deficient, then the state board shall declare the school to be academically deficient.

(3) Following a decision that a school is academically deficient, the state board of education shall, within sixty days, appoint a management team of at least ten persons to conduct any necessary investigations and make any recommendations the team believes are appropriate for the administration and management of the school necessary to promote student achievement and any additional resources which are required. Funds shall be provided, upon appropriation, under subsection 2 of section 160.530 for the operation of the audit and management teams and resources needed in the district.

(4) In the appointment of the audit and management teams, the state board of education shall appoint such persons so that at least fifty percent of the team is composed of active classroom teachers at the elementary, middle or secondary level grades. Teachers who have retired within five years of the appointment may be included in the classroom teacher component of the team. Further, no more than two persons of said team may be employees of the department of elementary and secondary education. At least one member of the team shall be a public school superintendent from another district.

(5) The management team shall report its findings and recommendations to the state board within sixty school days. The commissioner of education shall, subject to availability of resources, provide resources to the district as recommended by the management team. The management team report may also include recommendations for one or more of the following:

- (a) Conduct a recall election for each member of the district school board;
 - (b) Suspend indefinite contracts for certificated staff in the school and a one-year maximum length for new or renewal of contracts for the superintendent or the principal of the school;
 - (c) Require that the district develop a plan for the recruitment and retention of high quality teachers and administrators within the district; or
 - (d) Appoint a school accountability council to monitor one or more school buildings in the district.
- (6) The education audit team shall reevaluate the school two years after the filing of the management team report. No recall election, suspension of indefinite contract or maximum contract length limit may be imposed unless the audit team determines that the school is still academically deficient.

(7) The commissioner of education shall, upon such recommendation by the management team and upon approval by the state board of education, but only in the case where the education audit team finds the school academically deficient in its reevaluation audit under subdivision (6) of this subsection, order an election in the district to be held for the purpose of conducting a recall election of all members of the district school board. The recall election shall be held on the next available election day thereafter as provided under section 115.123, RSMo, and shall be conducted pursuant to chapter 115, RSMo, except as otherwise provided herein.

3. (1) A district school board member of a district which contains a school declared academically deficient may be removed by the voters in a recall election. Such election shall be held upon the submission of a petition signed by voters of the district equal in number to at least twenty-five percent of the number of persons voting at the last preceding election to elect a district board member. The petition shall be filed with the election authority and the secretary of the district board of education, which petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths that the statements therein made are true as he believes and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be.

(2) Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the election authority shall examine and ascertain whether said petition is signed by the requisite number of voters; and he shall attach to the petition his certificate, showing the result of the examination. If the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The election authority shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition and, if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be deemed to be sufficient, the election authority shall submit the same to the district board without delay. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the district board shall order the question to be submitted to the voters of the district.

(3) If a majority of the voters vote in favor of retaining the member, he shall remain in office and shall not be subject to another recall election during his term of office except as provided in subsection 2 of this section. If a majority of voters vote to remove the member, his successor shall be chosen as provided in section 162.261, RSMo.

4. Under subdivision (5) of subsection 2 of this section, a district board of education may suspend indefinite contracts and issue probationary contracts to all certificated staff in a school declared academically deficient. However, no such indefinite contract for any person may be suspended without providing the person an opportunity for a due process hearing, conducted according to the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and only after the school board demonstrates that the performance of the person's duties contributed to the school meeting the criteria for being declared academically deficient. The district board of any school which is declared academically deficient shall not issue new contracts or renew contracts to either the superintendent or the principal of the academically deficient school for a period of longer than one year. The provisions of other law to the contrary notwithstanding, a probationary teacher in a school declared academically deficient shall not be granted an indefinite contract until one year after such school is no longer determined to be academically deficient, and the probationary teacher meets all other requirements for permanent status required by law.

5. (1) If the management team so recommends pursuant to subdivision (5) of subsection 2 of this section, a district board of education may appoint a school accountability council for one or more buildings within the district.

(3) The school accountability council shall consist of seven members, with no fewer than four members being the parent or guardian of a student currently enrolled in the school building.

(4) If the district board of education fails to appoint a school accountability council pursuant to this subsection, then the state board of education may appoint the council.

6. An instructional resource reallocation plan for any school building shall provide for the focusing of any discretionary local, state or federal funds available to the school on the areas of academic deficiency. The instructional resource reallocation plan shall address:

(1) Instruction in math and reading/communication arts if performance by students in those areas under the assessment system developed pursuant to section 160.518 is such that the percentage of the subject school's students scoring at step 1 of the assessment scale is at least twice the percentage of students statewide scoring at step 1 of the assessment scale;

(2) Professional development to improve instruction in the areas of academic deficiency or in areas where the number of certificated staff teaching one or more classes outside of their area of certification results in ten percent or more of the students within the school building being taught by teachers outside their areas of certification;

(3) Special education and related services and the level of integration of children with disabilities within the regular education curriculum where the percentage of students eligible to receive services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and scoring at step 1 of the assessment scale of the assessment system developed pursuant to section 160.518 is at least twice the percentage of students statewide who are eligible to receive services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and who score at step 1 of the assessment scale;

(4) Any waivers required for implementation of the plan to be requested on behalf of the district from the state board of education.

7. The school accountability council shall report annually to the state board of education with regard to the implementation of the instructional resources reallocation plan until such time as the academic deficiencies are addressed.

8. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any district which has one or more buildings declared academically deficient shall provide summer school programming to any student making application in those areas identified as an area of concern by the school audit team pursuant to subsection 2 of this section.

9. (1) Subject to appropriation, the state board of education may establish a program of financial aid for prospective teachers to assist schools identified as academically deficient.

(2) This program may include tuition reimbursement for current teachers and student loan forgiveness for new teachers employed within the district based upon their term of service in the district.

(3) Financial aid shall be provided in those areas of instruction where certificated staff are teaching one or more classes outside of their area of certification.]

In addition, the department of elementary and secondary education shall identify those waivers of administrative rule authorized under state law appropriate for the recognized school district or school. The department of elementary and secondary education shall endeavor to identify waivers of administrative rule that result in a meaningful reduction in administrative burden on the districts recognized in this section.

2. The department of elementary and secondary education shall identify priority school districts and priority schools based upon the following criteria:

(5) Require school boards of each district to annually review the school discipline provisions contained in section 160.261, and sections 167.023, 167.026, 167.117, 167.161 to 167.171 and 167.335, RSMo, and ensure that the district's discipline policies are consistent with the above listed sections.

Any parent, guardian or other person who enrolls a child between the ages of five and seven years in a public school program of academic instruction shall cause such child to attend the academic program on a regular basis, according to this section. A parent, guardian or other person in this state having charge, control, or custody of a child [between the ages of seven and sixteen years of age] whose age conforms with the compulsory attendance age range for the district shall cause the child to attend regularly some public, private, parochial, parish, home school or a combination of such schools not less than the entire school term of the school which the child attends; except that

(2) A child between fourteen [and sixteen] years of age and the maximum age required in order to be in compliance with the compulsory attendance age range for the district may be excused from attendance at school for the full time required, or any part thereof, by the superintendent of public schools of the district, or if there is none then by a court of competent jurisdiction, when legal employment has been obtained by the child and found to be desirable, and after the parents or guardian of the child have been advised of the pending action; or

(3) A child between five [and seven] years of age and the minimum age required in order to be in compliance with the compulsory attendance age range for the district shall be excused from attendance at school if a parent,

Any other provision of the law to the contrary notwithstanding, all departments or agencies of the state of Missouri shall be prohibited from dictating through rule, regulation or other device any statewide curriculum for private, parochial, parish or home schools.

4. A school year begins on the first day of July and ends on the thirtieth day of June following.

5. If a school board establishes part-time schools or classes for children under [sixteen] seventeen years of age, lawfully engaged in any regular employment, every parent, guardian or other person having charge, control or custody of such a child shall cause the child to attend the school not less than four hours a week between the hours of eight o'clock in the morning and five o'clock in the evening during the school year of the part-time classes.

2. (1) Design the performance standards of the statewide assessment system in such a manner that such indicators both reflect those performance standards that the state board of education determines best measure and reflect the levels of proficiency in knowledge, skills and competencies adopted by the state board of education and may be reasonably reported in a manner so as to be measured against and compared with the performance standards of the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) exam;

(2) Administer any other adjustments that the state board of education deems absolutely necessary in order to meet the requirements contained in the federal "No Child Left Behind Act".

CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Senator Klindt offered the following concurrent resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 41

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has mandated that the United States Army Corps of Engineers implement a plan for operating the Missouri River that calls for a "spring rise" and a "summer low flow." This plan would result in an increase in the flow of the Missouri River in the spring when the risk of flooding of bottomland farms is already high. The plan also would result in a reduction of the flow of the Missouri River in the summer of each year, thereby negatively affecting farmers, utilities, and businesses from Omaha to the Gulf of Mexico, purportedly to improve habitat for the pallid sturgeon, an endangered fish; and

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has dictated these controversial flow changes primarily to benefit only a short segment of the Missouri River where pallid sturgeon have not even been found in six years of sampling; and

WHEREAS, analyses have shown that low river flows could actually degrade habitat important to the pallid sturgeon in segments of the lower Missouri and Mississippi Rivers where pallid sturgeon have been found in recent years; and

WHEREAS, in the summer months of 2002 and 2003, record low flows on the Missouri River increased transportation costs for Missouri farmers by halting navigation, increased power plant cooling costs for private utilities, increased drinking water treatment costs for public utilities across the state of Missouri, and caused water quality violations with the temperature in the Missouri River exceeding 90 degrees. Despite the economic harm already experienced by Missourians, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has unilaterally mandated summer low flows during the next two years that are virtually identical to those experienced in 2002 and 2003; and

WHEREAS, while the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has failed to provide sufficient scientific evidence that proves that their mandated "spring rise" and "summer low flow" will improve habitat for the pallid sturgeon, analysis has shown that their proposal will increase the risk of flooding bottomland farms along the Missouri River, will result in economic harm to public and private utilities, and will risk the jobs of those who rely on the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers for their livelihoods; and

WHEREAS, the so-called "drought conservation measures" under consideration by the United States Army Corps of Engineers for inclusion in the Missouri River Master Manual would take away usable water from Missourians by shifting the storage of more water to upstream reservoirs while decreasing the amount of water available for other designated downstream uses; and

WHEREAS, the United States Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals recently affirmed that the dominant functions of the Missouri River Reservoir System are flood control and navigation, with recreation and other interests being secondary uses:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby respectfully request that the President of the United States direct the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and the United States Army Corps of Engineers to develop a plan for operating the Missouri River Reservoir System that will not increase the risk of flooding for bottomland farmers and will not harm the economy of the Midwestern states by failing to provide adequate flows to meet all designated downstream uses on the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, each member of the Missouri Congressional Delegation, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, and the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY--WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 2004

The Senate met pursuant to adjournment.

Senator Shields in the Chair.

"Rend your hearts and not your clothing. Return to the Lord Your God, for God is gracious and merciful. Slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love, and relents from punishing." (Joel 2:13)

Gracious God, today many observe Ash Wednesday and are called to look at their lives in critical ways. May that be true with us as we pray to You this day, aware of our shortcomings and need of Your mercy. Keep us close O Lord and provide us hope and guidance as we walk through this dark day of ashes. In Your Holy Name we pray. Amen.

The county commission shall cause an election to be held in the ambulance district within ninety days after the order establishing the ambulance district to elect ambulance district directors. Each voter shall vote for one director from the ambulance election district in which the voter resides. The directors elected from districts one and four shall serve for a term of one year, the directors elected from districts two and five shall serve for a term of two years, and the directors from districts three and six shall serve for a term of three years; thereafter, the terms of all directors shall be three years. All directors shall serve the term to which they were elected or appointed, and until their successors are elected and qualified, except in cases of resignation or disqualification. The county commission shall reapportion the ambulance districts within sixty days after the population of the county is reported to the governor for each decennial census of the United States. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, if the number of candidates for the office of director is no greater than the number of directors to be elected, no election shall be held, and the candidates shall assume the responsibilities of their offices at the same time and in the same manner as if they have been elected.

2. In all counties of the second class having more than one hundred five thousand inhabitants located adjacent to a county of the first class having a charter form of government which has a population of over nine hundred thousand inhabitants, the voters shall vote for six directors elected at large from within the district for a term of three years. Those directors holding office in any district in such a county on August 13, 1976, shall continue to hold office until the expiration of their terms, and their successors shall be elected from the district at large for a term of three years. In any district formed in such counties after August 13, 1976, the governing body of the county shall cause an election to be held in that district within ninety days after the order establishing the ambulance district to elect ambulance district directors. Each voter shall vote for six directors. The two candidates receiving the highest number of votes at such election shall be elected for a term of three years, the two candidates receiving the third and fourth highest number of votes shall be elected for a term of two years, the two candidates receiving the fifth and sixth highest number of votes shall be elected for a term of one year; thereafter, the term of all directors shall be three years.

3. A candidate for director of the ambulance district shall, at the time of filing, be a citizen of the United States, a qualified voter of the election district as provided in subsection 1 of this section, a resident of the district for two years next preceding the election, and shall be at least twenty-four years of age. In an established district which is located within the jurisdiction of more than one election authority, the candidate shall file his or her declaration of candidacy with the secretary of the board. In all other districts, a candidate shall file a declaration of candidacy with the county clerk of the county in which he or she resides. A candidate shall file a statement under oath that he or she possesses the required qualifications. No candidate's name shall be printed on any official ballot unless the candidate has filed a written declaration of candidacy pursuant to subsection 5 of section 115.127, RSMo. If the time between the county commission's call for a special election and the date of the election is not sufficient to allow compliance with subsection 5 of section 115.127, RSMo, the county commission shall, at the time it calls the special election, set the closing date for filing declarations of candidacy.

190.051. 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 190.050 and 190.052 to the contrary, upon a motion by the board of directors in districts where there are six-member boards, and upon approval by the voters in the district, the number of directors may be increased to seven with one board member running district wide, or decreased to five or three board members. The ballot to be used for the approval of the voters to increase or decrease the number of members on the board of directors of the ambulance district shall be substantially in the following form:

Shall the number of members of the board of directors of the (Insert name of district) Ambulance District be (increased to seven members/decreased to five members/decreased to three members)?

[] YES [] NO

2. If a majority of the voters voting on a proposition to increase the number of board members to seven vote in favor of the proposition, then at the next election of board members after the voters vote to increase the number of directors, the voters shall select one person to serve in addition to the existing six directors as the member who shall run district wide.

3. If a majority of the voters voting on a proposition to decrease the number of board members vote in favor of the proposition, then the county clerk shall redraw the district into the resulting number of subdistricts with equal population bases and hold elections by subdistricts pursuant to section 190.050. Thereafter, members of the board shall be elected to serve terms of three years and until their successors are duly elected and qualified.

4. Members of the board of directors in office on the date of an election pursuant to this section to increase or decrease the number of members of the board of directors shall serve the term to which they were elected or appointed and until their successors are elected and qualified.

191.631. 1. (1) Notwithstanding any other law to the contrary, if a care provider sustains an exposure from a person while rendering emergency health care services, the person to whom the care provider was exposed is deemed to consent to a test to determine if the person has a contagious or infectious disease and is deemed to consent to notification of the care provider of the results of the test, upon submission of an exposure report by the care provider to the hospital where the person is delivered by the care provider.

(2) The hospital where the person is delivered shall conduct the test. The sample and test results shall only be identified by a number and shall not otherwise identify the person tested.

(3) A hospital shall have written policies and procedures for notification of a care provider pursuant to this section. The policies and procedures shall include designation of a representative of the care provider to whom notification shall be provided and who shall, in turn, notify the care provider. 5. This section does not preclude a hospital from providing notification to a care provider under circumstances in which the hospital's policy provides for notification of the hospital's own employees of exposure to a contagious or infectious disease that is not life-threatening if the notice does not reveal a patient's name, unless the patient consents.

6. A hospital participating in good faith in complying with the provisions of this section is immune from any liability, civil or criminal, which may otherwise be incurred or imposed.

7. A hospital's duty of notification pursuant to this section is not continuing but is limited to diagnosis of a contagious or infectious disease made in the course of admission, care, and treatment following the rendering of health care services to which notification pursuant to this section applies.

2. In any fire protection district located in more than one county one of which is a first class county without a charter form of government having a population of more than one hundred ninety-eight thousand and not adjoining any other first class county or located wholly within a first class county as described herein, a resident shall have been a resident of the district for more than one year to be qualified to serve as a director.

3. In any fire protection district located in a county of the third or fourth classification, a person to be qualified to serve as a director shall be over the age of twenty-five years and shall be a voter of the district for more than two years before the election or appointment, except that for the first board of directors in such district, a person need only be a voter of the district for one year before the election or appointment.

4. A person desiring to become a candidate for the first board of directors of the proposed district shall pay the sum of five dollars as a filing fee to the treasurer of the county and shall file with the election authority a statement under oath that such person possesses all of the qualifications set out in this chapter for a director of a fire protection district. Thereafter, such candidate shall have the candidate's name placed on the ballot as a candidate for director.

5. The provisions of this section shall apply to any county within the state and to any city not within a county.

321.180. The treasurer shall keep strict and accurate accounts of all money received by and disbursed for and on behalf of the district in permanent records. He shall file with the clerk of the court, at the expense of the district, a corporate fidelity bond in an amount to be determined by the board for not less than five thousand dollars, conditioned on the faithful performance of the duties of his office. He shall file in the office of the county clerk of each county in which all or part of the district lies a detailed financial statement for the preceding fiscal year of the district on behalf of the board, on or before April first of the following year.

Loss of revenue, due to a decrease in the assessed valuation of real property located within the ambulance or fire protection district as a result of general reassessment, and from state-assessed railroad and utility distributable property based upon the previous fiscal year's receipts shall be considered in lowering the rate of levy to comply with this section in the year of general reassessment and in each subsequent year. In the event that in the immediately preceding year the ambulance or fire protection district actually received more or less sales tax revenue than estimated, the ambulance or fire protection district board may adjust its operating levy for the current year to reflect such increase or decrease. The director of revenue shall certify the amount payable from the ambulance or fire protection district sales tax trust fund to the general revenue fund to the state treasurer.

2. Except that, in the first year in which any sales tax is collected pursuant to section 321.552, the collector shall not reduce the tax rate as defined in section 137.073, RSMo.

3. In a year of general reassessment, as defined by section 137.073, RSMo, or assessment maintenance as defined by section 137.115, RSMo, in which an ambulance or fire protection district in reliance upon the information

then available to it relating to the total assessed valuation of such ambulance or fire protection district revises its property tax levy pursuant to section 137.073 or 137.115, RSMo, and it is subsequently determined by decisions of the state tax commission or a court pursuant to sections 138.430 to 138.433, RSMo, or due to clerical errors or corrections in the calculation or recordation of assessed valuations that the assessed valuation of such ambulance or fire protection district has been changed, and but for such change the ambulance or fire protection district would have adopted a different levy on the date of its original action, then the ambulance or fire protection district may adjust its levy to an amount to reflect such change in assessed valuation, including, if necessary, a change in the levy reduction required by this section to the amount it would have levied had the correct assessed valuation been known to it on the date of its original action, provided:

- (1) The ambulance or fire protection district first levies the maximum levy allowed without a vote of the people by article X, section 11(b) of the constitution; and
- (2) The ambulance or fire protection district first adopts the tax rate ceiling otherwise authorized by other laws of this state; and
- (3) The levy adjustment or reduction may include a one-time correction to recoup lost revenues the ambulance or fire protection district was entitled to receive during the prior year.

Any subdistrict that does not approve the creation of the district and imposition of the sales tax, shall not be a part of the district and the sales tax shall not be imposed until after the district board of directors has submitted another proposal for the inclusion of the area into the district and such proposal and the sales tax proposal are approved by a majority of the qualified voters in the subdistrict voting thereon. Such subsequent elections shall be conducted in accordance with section 67.2520; provided, however, that the district board of directors may place the question of the inclusion of a subdistrict within a district and the question of imposition of a sales tax in the proposed subdistrict before the voters of a proposed subdistrict, and the circuit clerk shall conduct the subsequent election. The notice shall include a description of the district boundaries, the timeframe and manner of applying for a ballot, the questions to be voted upon, and where and when applications for ballots will be accepted. 7. The tax imposed by this section shall be collected insofar as practicable at the same time as, and along with, the charges for the tariff rate in accordance with the regular billing practice of the service supplier. Each county in the district shall establish its own process for awarding the grant proceeds to its municipalities for park purposes provided the purposes of such grants are consistent with the purpose of the district. In the case of a county of the first classification with a charter form of government having a population of at least nine hundred thousand inhabitants, such grant proceeds shall be awarded to municipalities by a municipal grant commission as described in section 67.1757."; and

SENATE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 41

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has mandated that the United States Army Corps of Engineers implement a plan for operating the Missouri River that calls for a "spring rise" and a "summer low flow." This plan would result in an increase in the flow of the Missouri River in the spring when the risk of flooding of bottomland farms is already high. The plan also would result in a reduction of the flow of the Missouri River in the summer of each year, thereby negatively affecting farmers, utilities, and businesses from Omaha to the Gulf of Mexico, purportedly to improve habitat for the pallid sturgeon, an endangered fish; and

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has dictated these controversial flow changes primarily to benefit only a short segment of the Missouri River where pallid sturgeon have not even been found in six years of sampling; and

WHEREAS, analyses have shown that low river flows could actually degrade habitat important to the pallid sturgeon in segments of the lower Missouri and Mississippi Rivers where pallid sturgeon have been found in recent years; and

WHEREAS, in the summer months of 2002 and 2003, record low flows on the Missouri River increased transportation costs for Missouri farmers by halting navigation, increased power plant cooling costs for private utilities, increased drinking water treatment costs for public utilities across the state of Missouri, and caused water quality violations with the temperature in the Missouri River exceeding 90 degrees. Despite the economic harm already experienced by Missourians, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has unilaterally mandated summer low flows during the next two years that are virtually identical to those experienced in 2002 and 2003; and

WHEREAS, while the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has failed to provide sufficient scientific evidence that proves that their mandated "spring rise" and "summer low flow" will improve habitat for the pallid sturgeon, analysis has shown that their proposal will increase the risk of flooding bottomland farms along the Missouri River, will result in economic harm to public and private utilities, and will risk the jobs of those who rely on the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers for their livelihoods; and

WHEREAS, the so-called "drought conservation measures" under consideration by the United States Army Corps of Engineers for inclusion in the Missouri River Master Manual would take away usable water from Missourians by shifting the storage of more water to upstream reservoirs while decreasing the amount of water available for other designated downstream uses; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri River contributes up to 65 percent of the Mississippi River flow at St. Louis during low-water conditions; and

WHEREAS, reduction of Missouri River flows would result in more frequent and more costly impediments to commerce on the Mississippi River where more than 120 million tons of cargo, which includes 60 percent of the nation's grain harvest, is shipped annually past St. Louis.

WHEREAS, the United States Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals recently affirmed that the dominant functions of the Missouri River Reservoir System are flood control and navigation, with recreation and other interests being secondary uses:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby respectfully request that the President of the United States direct the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and the United States Army Corps of Engineers to develop a plan for operating the Missouri River Reservoir System that will not increase the risk of flooding for bottomland farmers and will not harm the economy of the Midwestern states by failing to provide adequate flows to meet all designated downstream uses on the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, each member of the Missouri Congressional Delegation, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, and the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

Also,

Mr. President: Your Committee on Rules, Joint Rules, Resolutions and Ethics, to which were referred SCS for SB 754, SCS for SB 1040, SB 1123 and SCS for SB 1160, begs leave to report that it has examined the same and finds that the bills have been truly perfected and that the printed copies furnished the Senators are correct.

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 1

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 968, Page 3, Section 168.104, Line 10, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"168.114. 1. An indefinite contract with a permanent teacher shall not be terminated [by the board of education of a school district] except for one or more of the following causes:

- (1) Physical or mental condition [unfitting him] making such teacher unfit to instruct or associate with children;
- (2) Immoral conduct;
- (3) Incompetency, inefficiency or insubordination in line of duty;
- (4) Willful or persistent violation of, or failure to obey, the school laws of the state or the published regulations of the board of education of the school district employing [him] such teacher;
- (5) Excessive or unreasonable absence from performance of duties; or
- (6) Conviction of a felony or a crime involving moral turpitude.

2. In determining the professional competency of or efficiency of a permanent teacher, consideration should be given to regular and special evaluation reports prepared in accordance with the policy of the employing school district and to any written standards of performance which may have been adopted by the school board.

168.116. 1. The indefinite contract of a permanent teacher may not be terminated [by the board of education] until after service upon the teacher of written charges specifying with particularity the grounds alleged to exist for termination of such contract, notice of a hearing on charges and a hearing [by the board of education] on charges if requested by the teacher.

2. At least [thirty] one hundred twenty days before service of notice of charges of incompetency, inefficiency, or insubordination in line of duty, the teacher shall be given by the school board or the superintendent of schools warning in writing, stating specifically the causes which, if not removed, may result in charges. Thereafter, both the superintendent, or [his] the superintendent's designated representative, and the teacher shall meet and confer in an effort to resolve the matter.

3. Notice of right to request a hearing upon charges, together with a copy of charges, shall be served on the permanent teacher [at least twenty days prior to the date of the hearing]. The notice and copy of the charges may be served upon the teacher by certified mail with personal delivery addressed to [him] the teacher at [his] the teacher's last known address. If the teacher or [his] the teacher's agent does not within ten days after receipt of the notice request a hearing on the charges, the board of education of the school district may, by a majority vote, order the contract of the teacher terminated. If a hearing is requested by [either] the teacher [or the board of education, it shall take place not less than twenty nor more than thirty days after notice of a hearing has been furnished the permanent teacher.], the superintendent shall forward a copy of the notice to the state board of education. Within five days after receiving this notice of hearing, the state board of education shall provide a list of five prospective, impartial hearing officers. Each person on the list shall be accredited by a national arbitration organization. No one on the list shall be a resident of the school district. Within seven days of receipt of the list, the board of education of the school district and the teacher, or their legal representatives, shall alternately strike one name from the list until only one name remains. The board of education of the school district shall proceed first with the striking. The state board of education shall promulgate uniform standards and rules of procedure for such hearings. Such rules and regulations shall, at a minimum, provide for:

(1) Discovery of names and addresses of persons who may be called as expert witnesses at the hearing. The omission of any such name shall result in a preclusion of the testimony of such witness in the absence of the showing of good cause and the express permission of the hearing officer;

(2) Written interrogatories; and

(3) The production of relevant documents.

4. The school district shall pay the per diem allowance for the hearing officer, not to exceed four hundred dollars, and the expenses of the hearing officer.

5. On the filing of charges in accordance with this section, the board of education of the school district may suspend the teacher from active performance of duty until a decision is rendered by the [board of education] hearing officer but the teacher's salary and benefits shall be continued during such suspension. If a decision to terminate a teacher's employment [by the board of education] is appealed, and the decision is reversed, the teacher shall be paid [his] the teacher's salary lost during the pending of the appeal.

6. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2004, shall be invalid and void.

168.118. If a hearing is requested on the termination of an indefinite contract it shall be conducted by the [board of education] hearing officer in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) The hearing shall be public unless closed at the request of the teacher, and shall be scheduled not less than thirty nor more than forty-five days from the date of selection of the hearing officer, unless the period is shortened or extended by mutual agreement of the teacher and the board of education of the school district;

(2) Both the teacher and the person filing charges may be represented by counsel who may cross-examine witnesses;

(3) Testimony at hearings shall be on oath or affirmation administered by the [president of the board of education] hearing officer, who for the purpose of hearings held [under sections 168.102 to 168.130] pursuant to this section shall have the authority to administer oaths;

(4) The [school board] hearing officer shall have the power to subpoena witnesses and documentary evidence as provided in section 536.077, RSMo, and shall do so on [its own] the motion or at the request of the administration or the teacher against whom charges have been made. The [school board] hearing officer shall hear testimony of all witnesses named by the administration and the teacher; however, the [school board] hearing officer may limit the number of witnesses to be subpoenaed on behalf of the administration or the teacher to not more than ten;

(5) The board of education of the school district shall employ a stenographer who shall make a full record of the proceedings of the hearings and who shall, within ten days after the conclusion thereof, furnish the hearing officer, the board of education of the school district and the teacher, at no cost to the hearing officer or the teacher, with a copy of the transcript of the record, which shall be certified by the stenographer to be complete and correct. The transcript shall not be open to public inspection, unless the hearing on the termination of the contract was an open hearing or if an appeal from the decision of the [board] hearing officer is taken by the teacher or the board of education of the school district;

(6) All costs of the hearing shall be paid by the school board of education of the school district except the cost of counsel for the teacher;

(7) [The decision of the board of education resulting in the demotion of a permanent teacher or the termination of an indefinite contract shall be by a majority vote of the members of the board of education and the decision shall be made within seven days after the transcript is furnished them. A written copy of the decision shall be furnished the teacher within three days thereafter.] No later than thirty days after the conclusion of the hearing, the hearing officer shall make a decision as to whether or not the teacher shall be dismissed and shall deliver copies of the decision to both the teacher and the board of education of the school district. The hearing officer shall also have the authority to decide that a teacher shall be given appropriate discipline, but not be dismissed. In the case of a charge of incompetency, inefficiency, or insubordination in the line of duty, the hearing officer shall also have the option of ordering an extension of the period in which the superintendent and the teacher shall meet and confer in an effort to resolve the matter as provided in subsection 2 of section 168.116. The decision of the hearing officer is final unless appealed as provided in section 168.120.

168.120. 1. The teacher or the board of education of the school district shall have the right to appeal from the decision of the [board of education] hearing officer to the circuit court of the county where the employing school district is located. The appeal shall be taken within fifteen days after service of a copy of the decision of the [board of education upon the teacher] hearing officer, and if an appeal is not taken within the time, then the decision of the [board of education] hearing officer shall become final.

2. The appeal may be taken by filing notice of appeal with the board of education of the school district, whereupon the board of education of the school district, under its certificate, shall forward to the court all documents and papers on file in the matter, together with a transcript of the evidence, the findings and the decision of the [board of education] hearing officer, which shall thereupon become the record of the cause. Such appeal shall be heard as provided in chapter 536, RSMo.

3. Appeals from the circuit court shall be allowed in the same manner as in civil actions, except that the original transcript prepared and filed in the circuit court by the board of education of the school district, together with a transcript of the proceedings had in the circuit court, shall constitute the transcript on appeal in the appellate court. The board of education of the school district shall make available, to the parties, copies of any transcript prepared and filed by it in the circuit court and upon final determination of the cause in the appellate court the original record of the board of education filed as a part of the transcript on appeal shall be certified back to the board of education of the school district by the appellate court. In all appeals from the board of education of the school district or circuit court the costs thereof shall be assessed against the losing party as provided by law in civil cases. All appeals to the circuit court and appellate courts shall have precedence over all cases except election contests.

4. If the circuit court finds for the teacher, [he] the teacher shall be restored to permanent teacher status and shall receive compensation for the period during which [he] the teacher may have been suspended from work, and such other relief as may be granted by the court."; and

Further amend said bill, Pages 128 & 129, Section 250.234, by striking said section from the bill and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"247.040. 1. Proceedings for the formation of a public water supply district shall be substantially as follows: a petition in duplicate describing the proposed boundaries of the district sought to be formed, accompanied by a plat of the proposed district, shall be filed with the clerk of the circuit court of the county wherein the proposed district is situate, or with the clerk of the circuit court of the county having the largest acreage proposed to be included in the proposed district, in the event that the proposed district embraces lands in more than one county. Such petition, in addition to such boundary description, shall set forth an estimate of the number of customers of the proposed district, the necessity for the formation of the district, the probable cost of the improvement, an approximation of the assessed valuation of taxable property within the district and such other information as may be useful to the court in determining whether or not the petition should be granted and a decree of incorporation entered. Such petition shall be accompanied by a cash deposit of fifty dollars as an advancement of the costs of the proceeding, and the petition shall be signed by not less than fifty voters or owners of real property within the proposed district and shall pray for the incorporation of the territory therein described into a public water supply district. The petition shall be verified by at least one of the signers thereof.

2. Upon the filing of the petition, the same shall be presented to the circuit court, and such court shall fix a date for a hearing on such petition, as herein provided for. Thereupon the clerk of the court shall give notice of the filing of the petition in some newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the proceedings are pending, and if the district extends into any other county or counties, such notice shall also be published in some newspaper of general circulation in such other county or counties. The notice shall contain a description of the proposed boundary lines of the district and the general purposes of the petition, and shall set forth the date fixed for the hearing on the petition, which shall not be less than seven nor more than twenty-one days after the date of the last publication of the notice and shall be on some regular judicial day of the court wherein the petition is pending. Such notice shall be signed by the clerk of the circuit court and shall be published in three successive issues of a weekly newspaper or in a daily newspaper once a week for three consecutive weeks.

3. The court, for good cause shown, may continue the case or the hearing thereon from time to time until final disposition thereof.

4. Exceptions to the formation of a district, or to the boundaries outlined in the petition for the incorporation thereof, may be made by any voter or owner of real property in the proposed district; provided, such exceptions are filed not less than five days prior to the date set for the hearing on the petition. Such exceptions shall specify the grounds upon which the exceptions are being made. If any such exceptions be filed, the court shall take them into consideration in passing upon the petition and shall also consider the evidence in support of the petition and in support of the exceptions made. Should the court find that the petition should be granted but that changes should be made in the boundary lines, it shall make such changes in the boundary lines as set forth in the petition as to the court may seem meet and proper, and thereupon enter its decree of incorporation, with such boundaries as changed.

5. Should the court find that it would not be to the public interest to form such a district, the petition shall be dismissed at the costs of the petitioners. If, however, the court should find in favor of the formation of such district, the court shall enter its decree of incorporation, setting forth the boundaries of the proposed district as determined by the court pursuant to the aforesaid hearing. The decree of incorporation shall also divide the district into five subdistricts and shall fix their boundary lines, all of which subdistricts shall have approximately the same area and shall be numbered. The decree shall further contain an appointment of one voter from each of such subdistricts, to constitute the first board of directors of the district. No two members of such board so appointed or hereafter elected or appointed shall reside in the same subdistrict, except as provided in section 247.060. If no qualified person who lives in the subdistrict is willing to serve on the board, the court may appoint, or the voters may elect, an otherwise qualified person who lives in the district but not in the subdistrict. The court shall designate two of such directors so appointed to serve for a term of two years and one to serve for a term of one year. And the directors thus appointed by the court shall serve for the terms thus designated and until their successors shall have been appointed or elected as herein provided. The decree shall further designate the name and number of the district by which it shall hereafter be officially known.

6. The decree of incorporation shall not become final and conclusive until it shall have been submitted to the voters residing within the boundaries described in such decree and until it shall have been assented to by a majority of the voters as provided in subsection 9 of this section or by two-thirds of the voters of the district voting on the proposition. The decree shall provide for the submission of the question and shall fix the date thereof. The returns shall be certified by the judges and clerks of election to the circuit court having jurisdiction in the case and the court shall thereupon enter its order canvassing the returns and declaring the result of such election.

7. If, upon canvass and declaration, it is found and determined that the question shall have been assented to by a majority of two-thirds of the voters of the district voting on such proposition, then the court shall, in such order declaring the result of the election, enter a further order declaring the decree of incorporation to be final and conclusive. In the event, however, that the court should find that the question had not been assented to by the majority above required, the court shall enter a further order declaring such decree of incorporation to be void and of no effect. No appeal shall lie from any such decree of incorporation nor from any of the aforesaid orders. In the event that the court declares the decree of incorporation to be final, as herein provided for, the clerk of the circuit court shall file certified copies of such decree of incorporation and of such final order with the secretary of state of the state of Missouri, and with the recorder of deeds of the county or counties in which the district is situate and with the clerk of the county commission of the county or counties in which the district is situate.

voters of the district voting on such proposition.

(5) The expense and cost of the water provider shall be recalculated annually, providing for annual increases or decreases in the National Consumers Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U), unadjusted for seasonal variation, as published by the United States Department of Labor. The amount due the water provider during the subsequent year shall be increased or decreased according to any change occurring in such costs and expenses;

(6) When a water provider is collecting delinquent amounts for both water and sewer service, all delinquent payments due to both the water and sewer provider shall be received by the water provider before water service is restored. If for any reason water service is never restored, any amount collected for delinquent accounts due both water and sewer provider shall be divided equally between the water provider and the sewer provider.

5. Upon the filing of such petition, the sewer provider shall appoint one commissioner. The water provider shall appoint a commissioner within thirty days of the service of the petition upon it. If the water provider fails to appoint a commissioner within such time period, the court shall appoint a commissioner on behalf of the water provider within forty-five days of service of the petition on the water provider. Such two named commissioners shall agree to appoint a third commissioner within thirty days after the appointment of the second commissioner, but in the event that they fail to do so, the court shall appoint a third commissioner within sixty days after the appointment of the second commissioner.

6. The commissioners shall draft an agreement between the water provider and sewer provider meeting the requirements established in this section. Before drafting such agreement, the water provider and sewer provider shall be given an opportunity to present evidence and information pertaining to such agreement at a hearing to be held by the commissioners, of which each party shall receive fifteen days written notice. The hearing may be continued from time to time by the commissioners. The commissioners shall consider all such evidence and information submitted to them and prepare such agreement as provided herein. Said agreement shall be submitted to the court within ninety days of the selection or appointment of the last commissioner as herein provided.

7. If the court finds that such agreement meets the requirements of this section, then the court shall enter its judgment approving such agreement and order it to become effective sixty days after the date of such judgment. If such agreement does not meet the requirements of this section, the court shall return it to the commissioners with its reasons for rejecting the agreement. The commissioners shall make the required changes and resubmit the agreement to the court. Upon approval of the agreement by the court, judgment shall be entered approving the agreement and ordering it to become effective sixty days after the date of such judgment. Thereafter, the parties shall abide by such agreement. If either party fails to do so, the other party may file an action to compel compliance. Venue shall be in the court issuing such judgment.

8. The judgment and order of the court shall be subject to appeal as provided by law. All costs, including commissioners' compensation, shall be taxed to and paid by the sewer provider requesting an agreement. The court shall also order payment of a reasonable attorney fee and fees of expert witnesses of the water provider by the sewer provider to the water provider.

393.016. 1. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, any sewer corporation, municipality or sewer district established under the provisions of chapter 249 or 250, RSMo, or sections 204.250 to 204.470, RSMo, or any sewer district created and organized pursuant to constitutional authority, may contract with any water corporation to terminate water services to any customer premises for nonpayment of a sewer bill. No such termination of water service may occur until thirty days after the sewer corporation, municipality or statutory sewer district or sewer district created and organized pursuant to constitutional authority sends a written notice to the customer by certified mail, except that if the water corporation is performing a combined water and sewer billing service for the sewer corporation, municipality or sewer district, no additional notice or any additional waiting period shall be required other than the notice and waiting period already used by the water corporation, municipality or public water supply district to disconnect water service for nonpayment of the water bill. Acting pursuant to a contract, the water corporation shall discontinue water service until such time as the sewer charges and all related costs of termination and reestablishment of sewer and water services are paid by the customer.

2. A water corporation acting pursuant to a contract with a sewer corporation, municipality or sewer district as provided in subsection 1 of this section shall not be liable for damages related to termination of water services unless such damage is caused by the negligence of such water corporation, municipality, or public water supply district, in which case the water corporation, municipality, or public water supply district shall be indemnified by the sewer corporation, municipality or sewer district. Unless otherwise specified in the contract, all costs related to the termination and reestablishment of services by the water corporation, municipality or public water supply district shall be reimbursed by the sewer corporation, municipality, sewer district or sewer district created and organized pursuant to constitutional authority."; and

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 715, Page 153, Section 644.583, Line 17, of said page, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"701.304. 1. A representative of the department, or a representative of a unit of local government or health department licensed by the department for this purpose, may conduct an inspection or a risk assessment at a dwelling or a child-occupied facility for the purpose of ascertaining the existence of a lead hazard under the following conditions:

- (1) The department, owner of the dwelling, and an adult occupant of a dwelling which is rented or leased have been notified that an occupant of the dwelling or a child six or fewer years of age who regularly visits the child-occupied facility has been identified as having an elevated blood lead level as defined by rule; and
- (2) The inspection or risk assessment occurs at a reasonable time; and
- (3) The representative of the department or local government presents appropriate credentials to the owner or occupant; and
- (4) Either the dwelling's owner or adult occupant or the child-occupied facility's owner or agent grants consent to enter the premises to conduct an inspection or risk assessment; or
- (5) If consent to enter is not granted, the representative of the department, local government, or local health department may petition the circuit court for an order to enter the premises and conduct an inspection or risk assessment after notifying the dwelling's owner or adult occupant in writing of the time and purpose of the inspection or risk assessment at least forty-eight hours in advance. The court shall grant the order upon a showing that an occupant of the dwelling or a child six or fewer years of age who regularly visits the child-occupied facility has been identified as having an elevated blood lead level as defined by rule.

2. In conducting such an inspection or risk assessment, a representative of the department, or representative of a unit of local government or health department licensed by the department for this purpose, may remove samples necessary for laboratory analysis in the determination of the presence of a lead-bearing substance or lead hazard in the designated dwelling or child-occupied facility.

3. The director shall assess fees for licenses and accreditation and levy fines in accordance with rules promulgated pursuant to sections 701.300 to [701.330] 701.338. All such fees and fines shall be deposited into the state treasury to the credit of the public health services fund established in section 192.900, RSMo.

4. In commercial lead production areas where the department of health and senior services determines that an individual, who resides in a single family dwelling and the owners use it as their primary residence, has an elevated blood lead level that is due directly to lead paint, the owner of the dwelling shall make a good faith effort to abate the lead paint as directed by the department. Upon completion of such good faith efforts to abate the lead paint, the owner of the dwelling shall not be subject to any fines issued pursuant to this section.

701.305. The department of health and senior services shall provide on its Internet website educational information that explain the rights and responsibilities of the property owner and tenants of a dwelling and the lead inspectors, risk assessors, and the lead abatement contractors.

701.308. 1. Upon receipt of written notification of the presence of a lead hazard, the owner shall comply with the requirement for abating or establishing interim controls for the lead hazard in a manner consistent with the recommendations described by the department and within the applicable time period. If the dwelling or child-occupied facility is a rental or leased property, the owner may remove it from the rental market.

2. Except as provided in subsection 1 of this section, no tenant shall be evicted because an individual with an elevated blood lead level or with suspected lead poisoning resides in the dwelling, or because of any action required of the dwelling owner as a result of enforcement of sections 701.300 to 701.338. The provisions of this subsection shall not operate to prevent the owner of any such dwelling from evicting a tenant for any other reason as provided by law.

3. No child shall be denied attendance at a child-occupied facility because of an elevated blood lead level or suspected lead poisoning or because of any action required of the facility owner as a result of enforcement of sections 701.300 to 701.338. The provisions of this subsection shall not prevent the owner or agent of any such child-occupied facility from denying attendance for any other reason allowed by law.

4. A representative of the department, or a representative of a unit of local government or health department licensed by the department for this purpose, is authorized to re-enter a dwelling or child-occupied facility to determine if the required actions have been taken that will result in the reduction of lead hazards. If consent to enter is not granted, the representative of the department, local government, or local health department may petition the court for an order to enter the premises. The court shall grant the order upon a showing that the representative of the department, local government, or local health department has attempted to notify the dwelling's owner or adult occupant in writing of the time and purpose of the re-entry at least forty-eight hours in advance.

5. [Whenever] Upon re-entry, if the department[,] or a representative of a unit of local government[,] or local health department licensed by the department for this purpose, finds[, after providing written notification to the owner,] that the owner has not taken the required actions which [will result] have resulted in the reduction of [a] lead [hazard in a dwelling or child-occupied facility have not been taken] hazards, the owner shall be deemed to be in violation of sections 701.300 to 701.338. Such violation shall not by itself create a cause of action. The department or the local government or local health department shall:

- (1) Notify in writing the owner found to be causing, allowing or permitting the violation to take place; and
- (2) Order that the owner of the dwelling or child-occupied facility shall cease and abate causing, allowing or permitting the violation and shall take such action as is necessary to comply with this section and the rules promulgated pursuant to this section.

[5.] 6. If [no action is taken pursuant to subsection 4 of this section which would result in abatement or interim control of the lead hazard within the stated time period], upon re-entry, the lead hazard has not been reduced, the following steps may be taken:

- (1) The local health officer and local building officials may, as practical, use such community or other resources as are available to effect the relocation of the individuals who occupied the affected dwelling or child-occupied facility until the owner complies with the notice; or
- (2) The department[,] or representative of a unit of local government or health department licensed by the department for this purpose, [shall] may report any violation of sections 701.300 to 701.338 to the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the dwelling or child-occupied facility is located and notify the owner that such a report has been made. The prosecuting attorney shall seek injunctive relief to ensure that the lead hazard is abated or that interim controls are established.

7. In addition to the injunctive relief provided in subdivision 2 of subsection 6 of this section, the court may impose a fine against the owner of the dwelling or child-occupied facility found to be in violation of any provision of sections 701.300 to 701.338, RSMo. The amount of such fine shall reflect the seriousness or potential seriousness of the threat to human health and the environment posed by the violation, but shall not exceed ten thousand dollars. The fine shall not be less than five thousand dollars if said owner has failed to reduce identified lead hazards upon a showing that:

- (1) Said property owner has been notified that an occupant or child less than six years of age dwelling in his property has an elevated blood lead level pursuant to section 701.306;
- (2) That re-entry by the department under subsection 5 of this section revealed that the required actions to reduce the lead hazards were not taken; and

(3) Another occupant or child less than six years of age dwelling in his property is identified with an elevated blood lead level.

701.309. 1. At least ten days prior to the onset of a lead abatement project, the lead abatement contractor conducting such an abatement project shall:

- (1) Submit to the department a written notification as prescribed by the department; and
- (2) Pay a notification fee of twenty-five dollars.

2. In addition to the specified penalties in section 701.320, failure to notify the department prior to the onset of a lead abatement project shall result in a fine levied by the department of one thousand dollars imposed against the lead abatement contractor for the first identified offense, two thousand dollars for the second identified offense, and thereafter, fines shall be doubled for each identified offense.

3. The lead abatement contractor shall inform the owners and tenants of a dwelling that information regarding potential lead hazards can be accessed on the department's Internet website.

4. If the lead abatement contractor is unable to comply with the requirements of subsection 1 of this section because of an emergency situation as defined by rule, the contractor shall:

- (1) Notify the department by other means of communication within twenty-four hours of the onset of the project; and
- (2) Submit the written notification and notification fee prescribed in subsection 1 of this section to the department no more than five days after the onset of the project.

5. Upon completion of the abatement, the lead abatement contractor shall submit to the department written notification and the final clearance inspection report.

701.311. 1. Any authorized representative of the department who presents appropriate credentials may, at all reasonable times, enter public or private property to conduct compliance inspections of lead abatement contractors as may be necessary to implement the provisions of sections 701.300 to 701.338 and any rules promulgated pursuant to sections 701.300 to 701.338.

2. It is unlawful for any person to refuse entry or access requested for inspecting or determining compliance with sections 701.300 to 701.338. A suitably restricted search warrant, upon a showing of probable cause in writing and upon oath, shall be issued by any circuit or associate circuit judge having jurisdiction for the purpose of enabling such inspections.

3. Whenever the director determines through a compliance inspection that there are reasonable grounds to believe that there has been a violation of any provision of sections 701.300 to 701.338 or the rules promulgated pursuant to sections 701.300 to 701.338, the director shall give notice of such alleged violation to the owner or person responsible, as provided in this section. The notice shall:

- (1) Be in writing;
- (2) Include a statement of the reasons for the issuance of the notice;
- (3) Allow reasonable time as determined by the director for the performance of any act the notice requires;
- (4) Be served upon the property owner or person responsible as the case may require, provided that such notice shall be deemed to have been properly served upon such person when a copy of such notice has been sent by registered or certified mail to the person's last known address as listed in the local property tax records concerning such property, or when such person has been served with such notice by any other method authorized by law;

(5) Contain an outline of corrective action which is required to effect compliance with sections 701.300 to 701.338 and the rules promulgated pursuant to sections 701.300 to 701.338.

4. In the event the department is required to revisit an abatement project, either because a contractor is not present for the notification visit referenced in section 701.309, RSMo, or because the contractor is found in violation of a provision of sections 701.300 to 701.338, RSMo, or any regulation promulgated thereunder, the lead abatement contractor shall pay a fee of one hundred and fifty dollars per re-visit.

5. If an owner or person files a written request for a hearing within ten days of the date of receipt of a notice, a hearing shall be held within thirty days from the date of receipt of the notice before the director or the director's designee to review the appropriateness of the corrective action. The director shall issue a written decision within thirty days of the date of the hearing. Any final decision of the director may be appealed to the administrative hearing commission as provided in chapter 621, RSMo. Any decision of the administrative hearing commission may be appealed as provided in sections 536.100 to 536.140, RSMo.

[5.] 6. The attorney general or the prosecuting attorney of the county in which any violation of sections 701.300 to 701.338 or the rules promulgated pursuant to sections 701.300 to 701.338, occurred shall, at the request of the city, county or department, institute appropriate proceedings for correction.

[6.] 7. When the department determines that an emergency exists which requires immediate action to protect the health and welfare of the public, the department is authorized to seek a temporary restraining order and injunction. Such action shall be brought at the request of the director by the local prosecuting attorney or the attorney general. For the purposes of this subsection, an "emergency" means any set of circumstances that constitutes an imminent health hazard or the threat of an imminent health hazard.

8. In addition to any other penalty provided by law, the department may assess a fine in a maximum amount not to exceed one thousand dollars for the first violation and five thousand dollars for each subsequent violation against any inspector, risk assessor, lead abatement worker, lead abatement supervisor, project designer, or contractor licensed by the department who violates a provision of sections 701.300 to 701.338, or any rule promulgated thereunder. In the cases of a continuing violation, every day such violation continues shall be deemed a separate violation.

701.312. 1. The director of the department of health and senior services shall develop a program to license lead inspectors, risk assessors, lead abatement supervisors, lead abatement workers, project designers and lead abatement contractors. The director shall promulgate rules and regulations including, but not limited to:

- (1) The power to issue, restrict, suspend, revoke, deny and reissue licenses;
- (2) The ability to enter into reciprocity agreements with other states that have similar licensing provisions;
- (3) Fees for any such licenses;
- (4) Training, education and experience requirements; and
- (5) The implementation of work practice standards, reporting requirements and licensing standards.

2. [The director shall issue temporary risk assessor licenses to persons who, as of August 28, 1998, are licensed by the department as lead inspectors. The temporary risk assessor licenses issued pursuant to this subsection shall expire upon the same date as the expiration date of such person's lead inspector license. The director shall set forth standards and conditions under which temporary risk assessor licenses shall be issued.] The director shall require, as a condition of licensure, lead abatement contractors to purchase and maintain liability insurance. The director shall require a licensee or an applicant for licensure to provide evidence of their ability to indemnify any person that may suffer damage from lead-based paint activities of which the licensee or applicant may be liable. The licensee or applicant may provide proof of liability insurance in an amount to be determined by the director which shall not be less than three hundred thousand dollars.

701.313. 1. Any local community organization, government agency, or quasi-government agency issuing grants or loans for lead abatement projects must provide written notification to the department no later than ten days prior to the onset of a lead abatement project. The written notification shall include, but not be limited to, the name of the lead abatement contractor, the address of the property on which the lead abatement project shall be conducted, and the date on which the lead abatement project will be conducted.

2. If the local community organization, government agency, or quasi-government agency fails to provide written notification for each property pursuant to subsection 1 of this section, a fine of two hundred fifty dollars shall be levied by the department.

3. If the local community organization, government agency, or quasi-government agency is unable to comply with the requirements in subsection 1 of this section due to an emergency situation, as defined by the department, the local community organization, government agency, or quasi-government agency shall:

(1) Notify the department by other means of communication within twenty-four hours of the onset of the lead abatement project; and

(2) Provide written notification to the department no later than five days after the onset of the lead abatement project.

701.320. 1. Except as otherwise provided, violation of the provisions of sections 701.308, 701.309, 701.310, 701.311 and 701.316 is a class A misdemeanor.

2. Any subsequent violation of the provisions of sections 701.308, 701.309, 701.310, 701.311, and 701.316 is a class D felony.

701.336. 1. The department may develop additional educational materials on lead hazards to children, lead poisoning prevention, lead poisoning screening, lead abatement and disposal, and on health hazards during abatement.

2. The department of health and senior services and the department of social services, in collaboration with related not-for-profit organizations, American Academy of Pediatrics, health maintenance organizations, and the Missouri consolidated health care plan, shall devise an educational strategy to increase the number of children who are tested for lead poisoning under the Medicaid program. The goal of the educational strategy is to have seventy-five percent of the children who receive Medicaid tested for lead poisoning by August 28, 2008. The educational strategy shall be implemented over a three-year period and shall be in accordance with all federal laws and regulations.

3. The division of family services, in collaboration with the department of health and senior services, shall regularly inform eligible clients of the availability and desirability of lead screening and treatment services, including those available through the early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment (EPSDT) component of the Medicaid program.

4. The department of social services shall seek Medicaid waivers for the funding of lead prevention cleaning treatments and lead hazard reduction measures in the properties of Medicaid recipients. The department shall coordinate with the department of health and senior services to ensure that priority homes receive the appropriate funding and that risk assessments are conducted for the purpose of identifying lead hazards in properties.

701.342. 1. The department of health and senior services shall, using factors established by the department, including but not limited to the geographic index from data from testing reports, identify geographic areas in the state that are at high risk for lead poisoning. All children six months of age through six years of age who reside or spend more than ten hours a week in an area identified as high risk by the department shall be tested annually for lead poisoning.

2. Every child six months through six years of age not residing or spending more than ten hours a week in geographic areas identified as high risk by the department shall be assessed annually using a questionnaire to determine whether such child is at high risk for lead poisoning. The department, in collaboration with the department of social services, shall develop the questionnaire, which shall follow the recommendations of the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The department may modify the questionnaire to broaden the scope of the high-risk category. Local boards or commissions of health may add questions to the questionnaire.

3. Every child deemed to be at high risk for lead poisoning according to the questionnaire developed pursuant to subsection 2 of this section shall be tested using a blood sample.

4. Any child deemed to be at high risk for lead poisoning pursuant to this section who resides in housing currently undergoing renovations may be tested at least once every six months during the renovation and once after the completion of the renovation.

5. The department of social services, in collaboration with the department of health and senior services, shall ensure that all children six months through six years of age who are in foster care in geographic areas identified as high risk by the department are tested annually for lead poisoning. The costs of the testing shall be paid through the state Medicaid program. If a child who is in foster care and resides in a high risk area is not eligible for Medicaid, the costs of the testing shall be paid by the state.

6. Any laboratory providing test results for lead poisoning pursuant to sections 701.340 to 701.349 shall notify the department of the test results of any child tested for lead poisoning as required in section 701.326. Any child who tests positive for lead poisoning shall receive follow-up testing in accordance with rules established by the department. The department shall, by rule, establish the methods and intervals of follow-up testing and treatment for such children.

[6.] 7. HOUSE BILLS ON THIRD READING

HCS for HB 1182, with SCS, was placed on the Informal Calendar.

HB 969, introduced by Representative Cooper, et al, entitled:

An Act to repeal section 143.431, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof two new sections relating to Missouri taxable income of corporations.

Was taken up by Senator Bartle.

Senator Goode offered SA 1:

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 1

Amend House Bill No. 969, Pages 1-2, Section 143.431, Lines 1-41, by striking said section from the bill; and

Further amend said bill, Pages 2 to 4, Section 143.435, Lines 1 to 72, by striking said section from the bill and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"143.434. 1. As used in this chapter, the following terms mean:

(1) "Affiliated group", one or more chains of corporations that are connected through stock ownership with a common parent corporation that meet the following requirements:

(a) At least eighty percent of the stock of each of the corporations in the group, excluding the common parent corporation, is owned by one or more of the other corporations in the group; and

(b) The common parent directly owns at least eighty percent of the stock of at least one of the corporations in the group. "Affiliated group" does not include corporations that are qualified to do business but are not otherwise doing business in this state. For purposes of this section "stock" does not include nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends;

(2) "Common ownership", the direct or indirect control or ownership of more than fifty percent of the outstanding voting stock of:

(a) A parent-subsidiary controlled group as defined in Section 1563 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, except that the amount of fifty percent shall be substituted for all references of "80 percent" in such definition;

(b) A brother-sister controlled group as defined in Section 1563 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, except that the amount of fifty percent shall be substituted for all references of "80 percent" in such definition; or

(c) Three or more corporations each of which is a member of a group of corporations described in subdivision (1) of this subsection, and one of which is:

a. A common parent corporation included in a group of corporations described in paragraph (a) of subdivision (1) of this subsection; and

(3) "Corporate return" or "return", includes a combined report;

(4) "Doing business", any transaction in the course of its business by a domestic corporation, or by a foreign corporation qualified to do or doing intrastate business in this state. Doing business includes:

(a) The right to do business through incorporation or qualification;

(b) The owning, renting, or leasing of real or personal property within this state; and

(c) The participation in joint ventures, working and operating agreements, the performance of which takes place in this state;

(5) "Foreign corporation", a corporation that is not incorporated or organized pursuant to the laws of this state;

(6) "Foreign operating company", a corporation that:

(a) Is incorporated in the United States; and

(b) Eighty percent or more of whose business activity is conducted without the United States.

"Foreign operating company" does not include a corporation that qualifies for the Puerto Rico and Possession Tax Credit provided pursuant to Section 936 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended;

(7) "Unitary group", a group of corporations that:

(a) Are related through common ownership; and

(b) By a preponderance of the evidence as determined by a court of competent jurisdiction or the director, are economically interde-pendent with one another as demonstrated by the following factors:

a. Centralized management;

b. Functional integration; and

c. Economies of scale;

(8) "Water's edge combined report", a report combining the income and activities of:

(a) All members of a unitary group that are:

a. Corporations organized or incorporated in the United States, including those corporations qualifying for the Puerto Rico and Possession Tax Credit as provided in Section 936 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended; and

b. Corporations organized or incorporated without the United States that meet the threshold level of business activity; and

(b) An affiliated group electing to file water's edge combined report pursuant to subdivision (1) of subsection 2 of this section.

2. (1) If any corporation is doing business in Missouri and is a member of a unitary group, the unitary group shall file a water's edge combined report. A group of corporations that are not otherwise a unitary group may elect to file a water's edge combined report if each member of the group is:

(a) Doing business in Missouri;

(b) Part of the same affiliate group; and

(c) Qualified pursuant to Section 1501 of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, to file a federal consolidated return.

(2) Each corporation within the affiliated group that is doing business in Missouri shall file a combined report. If an affiliated group elects to file a combined report, each corporation within the affiliated group that is doing business in Missouri shall file a combined report.

(3) A corporation that elects to file a water's edge combined report pursuant to this section shall not thereafter elect to file a separate return without the consent of the director.

3. If two or more corporations, whether or not organized or doing business in this state, and whether or not affiliated, are owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same interests, the director shall be authorized to distribute, apportion, or allocate gross income or deductions between or among such corporations, if it determines that such distribution, apportionment, or allocation is necessary in order to prevent evasion of taxes or clearly to reflect the income of any such corporations.

4. The director shall, by rule, prescribe for adjustments to Missouri taxable income when, solely by reason of the enactment of this section, a taxpayer would otherwise receive or have received a double tax benefit or suffer or have suffered a double tax detriment. However, the director may not make any adjustment pursuant to this section which will result in an increase or decrease of tax liability that is less than twenty-five dollars.

5. A group filing a combined report shall calculate federal taxable income of the combined group by:

(1) Computing federal taxable income on a separate return basis;

(2) Combining income or loss of the members included in the combined report; and

(3) Making appropriate eliminations and adjustments between members included in the combined report.

For purposes of this subsection, if an entity does not calculate federal taxable income, then the federal taxable income shall be calculated based on the applicable federal tax laws.

6. For purposes of the apportionment provisions within section 32.200, RSMo, corporations filing a combined report shall not include intercompany sales or other transactions between the corporations included in the combined report when determining the sales factor. Intercompany rents between members of a combined report may not be considered in the computation of the property factor.

7. The director of revenue may prescribe such regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter as the director may deem necessary in order that the tax liability of any affiliated group of corporations making a Missouri consolidated income tax return, and of each corporation in the group, before, during, and after the period of affiliation, may be returned, determined, computed, assessed, collected, and adjusted, in such manner as clearly to reflect the Missouri taxable income derived from sources within the state and in order to prevent avoidance of such tax liability.

8. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. This section and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date, or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after the effective date of this act, shall be invalid and void."; and Further amend the title and enacting clause accordingly.

Senator Goode moved that the above amendment be adopted.

At the request of Senator Bartle, HB 969, with SA 1 (pending), was placed on the Informal Calendar.

"137.122. 1. As used in this section, the following terms shall mean:

(1) "Depreciable tangible personal property", tangible personal property that is used in a trade or business or used for the production of income and that has a determinable life of longer than one year. Depreciable tangible personal property shall not include livestock, farm machinery, property subject to the motor vehicle registration provisions of chapter 301, RSMo, or property assessed by the state tax commission pursuant to chapters 151, 153, 155, or section 137.022, and sections 137.1000 to 137.1030, RSMo;

(2) "Functional installation costs", all costs for installation if such costs are included in the purchase price and are not separately stated or separately purchased; in the case of separately stated or separately purchased installation costs, all costs for installation that are essential to the functionality of the property, or that make it minimally ready for use. The term does not include cost for installation that add to the property in a purely operational manner;

(3) "Installed fair market value", the estimated amount, expressed in terms of money, that may reasonably be expected for an installed property in an exchange between a willing buyer and a willing seller, with equity to both, neither under any compulsion to buy or sell, and both fully aware of all relevant facts, including the original cost and freight costs, as of the date of assessment;

(4) "Original cost", the purchase price paid by the taxpayer for an item of depreciable tangible personal property, including freight charges and functional installation costs, and specifically excluding any taxes on such property;

(5) "True value in money", as such term is applied to depreciable tangible personal property owned by the taxpayer, or under the taxpayer's care, charge, or management, and taxable in this state, shall mean the installed fair market value.

2. Depreciable tangible personal property shall be a separate subclass of tangible personal property and assessed at thirty-three and one-third percent of its true value in money. The "value" for tax purposes of depreciable tangible personal property, in compliance with article X, section 4(b), and under the authority of article X, section 3, of the Constitution of Missouri, shall be its value as determined by the method set forth in this section.

3. On or before January 31 of the assessment year, the assessor shall supply forms that are approved by the state tax commission to those required in subsection 4 to submit lists of depreciable tangible personal property. Such forms shall require the name and current address of the person required to file, a description of the depreciable tangible personal property, its asset class, the year acquired, the recovery period, the original cost, the depreciation class, the property's value, and any other information the assessor deems important in assessing such property.

4. All owners of taxable depreciable tangible personal property and all persons holding such property under their care, charge, or management, must submit depreciable tangible personal property lists to the assessor on forms supplied by the assessor. Such lists must be completed and submitted with the same oath, affirmation, or certification requirements and within the same time frame and subject to the same omitted personal property provisions and penalties for late or fraudulent filing as provided by law for other personal property.

5. The assessor shall review the information supplied by property owners or holders and any other information at the assessor's disposal and assure, by any necessary amendments based upon the best information available, that the depreciable tangible personal property is valued properly.

6. To implement the provisions of this subsection, the assessor shall value depreciable tangible personal property by applying the class life of property as set out in the federal Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System life tables or their successors and applying those class lives to the following depreciation schedule:

Year Recovery Period in Years

Depreciable tangible personal property in all recovery periods shall continue in subsequent years to have the depreciation factor last listed in the appropriate column so long as it is owned or held by the taxpayer.

7. The state tax commission shall study and analyze the values established by this method of assessment and in every odd-numbered year make recommendations to the joint committee on tax policy pertaining to any changes in this methodology, if any, that are warranted.

8. Notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary, in all hearings before the local boards of equalization and the state tax commission, there shall be a presumption that the value derived utilizing the depreciation and valuation tables developed and approved by the state tax commission for the valuation of depreciable tangible personal property is value under article X, section 4(b) of the Constitution of Missouri and is true value in money under section 137.115. This presumption of correct value shall be rebuttable by the presentation of clear and convincing evidence that the depreciation and valuation factors do not correctly represent value as herein defined.

Section B. Section 137.122 of this act shall become effective January 1, 2005."

SENATE AMENDMENT NO. 1

Amend Senate Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 1371, Page 1, Section A, Line 4, of said page, by inserting after all of said line the following:

"208.556. 1. There is hereby established the "Missouri Senior Rx Program" within the division of aging in the department of health and senior services to help defray the costs of prescription drugs for elderly Missouri residents. The division shall provide technical assistance to the commission for the administration and implementation of the program. The commission shall solicit requests for proposals from private contractors for the third-party administration of the program; except that, the commission shall either administer the rebate program established in section 208.565 or contract with the division of medical services for such rebate program. The program shall be governed by the commission for the Missouri Senior Rx program established in section 208.553.

2. Administration of the program shall include, but not be limited to, devising program applications, enrolling participants, administration of prescription drug benefits, and implementation of cost-control measures, including such strategies as disease management programs, early refill edits, drug utilization review which includes retroactive approval systems, fraud and abuse detection system, and auditing programs. The commission shall select a responsive, cost-effective bid from the requests for proposal; however, if no responsive, cost-effective bids are received, the program shall be administered collaboratively by the department of health and senior services and the department of social services.

3. Prescription drug benefits shall not include coverage of the following drugs or classes of drugs, or their medical uses:

- (1) Agents when used for anorexia or weight gain;
- (2) Agents when used to promote fertility;
- (3) Agents when used for cosmetic purposes or hair growth;
- (4) Agents when used for the symptomatic relief of cough and colds;
- (5) Agents when used to promote smoking cessation;
- (6) Prescription vitamins and mineral products, except prenatal vitamins and fluoride preparations;
- (7) Nonprescription drugs;
- (8) Covered outpatient drugs which the manufacturer seeks to require as a condition of sale that associated tests or monitoring services be purchased exclusively from the manufacturer or its designee;
- (9) Barbiturates;
- (10) Benzodiazepines.

4. Subject to appropriations, available funds and other cost-control measures authorized herein, any Missouri resident sixty-five years of age or older, who has not had access to employer-subsidized health care insurance that offers a pharmacy benefit for six months prior to application, who is not currently ineligible pursuant to subsection 8 of this section:

- (1) Who has a household income at or below twelve thousand dollars for an individual or at or below seventeen thousand dollars for a married couple is eligible to participate in the program; or
- (2) Who has a household income at or below seventeen thousand dollars for an individual or at or below twenty-three thousand dollars for a married couple is eligible to participate in the program.
- (3) However, the commission may restrict income eligibility limits as a last resort to obtain program cost control.

5. The commission shall have the authority to set and adjust coinsurance, deductibles and enrollment fees at different amounts pursuant to subdivisions (1) and (2) of subsection 4 of this section as a cost-containment measure.

6. Any person who has retired and received employer-sponsored health insurance while employed, but whose employer does not offer health insurance coverage to retirees shall not be subject to the six-month uninsured requirement.

7. The program established in this section is not an entitlement. Benefits shall be limited to the level supported by the moneys explicitly appropriated pursuant to this section. If in any fiscal year the commission projects that the total cost of the program will exceed the amount currently appropriated for the program, the commission may direct the third-party administrator to implement cost-control measures to reduce the projected cost. Such cost-control measures may include, but are not limited to, increasing the enrollment fees in subsection 12 of this section, the deductibles in subsection 11 of this section, and the coinsurance outlined in subsection 12 of this section. The Missouri Senior Rx program is a payer of last resort. If the federal government establishes a pharmaceutical assistance program that covers program-eligible seniors under Medicare or another program, the Missouri Senior Rx program shall cover only eligible costs not covered by the federal program.

8. Any person who is receiving Medicaid benefits shall not be eligible to participate in the program. The Missouri Senior Rx program is a payer of last resort. If a senior has coverage for pharmaceutical benefits through a health benefit plan, as defined in section 376.1350, RSMo, including a Medicare supplement or Medicare+Choice plan, or through a self-funded employee benefit plan, the Missouri Senior Rx program shall pay only for eligible costs not provided by such coverage. Individuals who have benefits with an actuarial value greater than or equal to the benefits in the program are not eligible for the program.

9. All applicants [for] not currently participating in the program shall submit an [annual] initial application to the division, or the division's designee, that attests to the age, residence, any third-party health insurance coverage, previous year prescription drug costs, annual household income for an individual or couple, if married, and any other information the commission deems necessary. The third-party administrator shall prescribe the form of the application for initial enrollment in the program, which shall be approved by the division. The commission shall develop and implement a means test by which applicants must demonstrate that they meet the income requirement of the program. Information provided by applicants and enrollees pursuant to sections 208.550 to 208.571 is confidential and shall not be disclosed by the commission, the division or any other state agency or contractor therein in any form.

10. Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring an applicant to accept Medicaid benefits in lieu of participation in this program.

11. The following deductibles shall apply to enrollees in the program:

(1) For an individual with a household income at or below twelve thousand dollars, the deductible shall, in the initial year, not be less than two hundred fifty dollars;

(2) For a married couple with a household income at or below seventeen thousand dollars, the deductible shall, in the initial year, not be less than two hundred fifty dollars for each person;

(3) For an individual with a household income between twelve thousand one dollars and seventeen thousand dollars, the deductible shall, in the initial year, not be less than five hundred dollars; and

(4) For a married couple with a household income between seventeen thousand one dollars and twenty-three thousand dollars, the deductible shall, in the initial year, not be less than five hundred dollars for each person.

12. For prescription drugs, enrollees shall pay a forty percent coinsurance. The division may implement a higher coinsurance at the recommendation of the commission. Such coinsurance may be adjusted annually by the commission and shall be used to reduce the state's cost for the program. In addition, each enrollee with an annual household income at or below twelve thousand dollars for an individual or at or below seventeen thousand dollars for a married couple shall pay, in the initial year, not less than an annual twenty-five dollar enrollment fee and each enrollee with a household income between twelve thousand one dollars and seventeen thousand dollars for an individual or at or below between seventeen thousand one dollars and twenty-three thousand dollars for a married couple shall pay, in the initial year, not less than an annual thirty-five dollar enrollment fee to offset the administrative costs of the program.

13. The total annual expenditures for each enrollee under this program may be up to but shall not exceed five thousand dollars for each participant.

14. In providing program benefits, the department may enter into a contract with a private individual, corporation or agency to implement the program.

15. The division shall utilize area agencies on aging, senior citizens centers, and other senior-focused entities to provide outreach, enrollment referral assistance, and education services to potentially eligible seniors for the Missouri Senior Rx program. The division and third-party administrators shall be responsible for informing eligible seniors on the availability of and providing information about pharmaceutical company benefits which may be applicable.

16. The commission shall submit quarterly reports to the governor, the senate appropriations committee, the house of representatives budget committee, the speaker of the house of representatives, the president pro tem of the senate, and the division that include:

(1) Quantified data as to the number of program applicants;

(2) An estimate of whether the current rate of expenditures will exceed the existing appropriation for the program in the current fiscal year; and

(3) Information regarding the commission's recommendations for changes to income eligibility, enrollment fees, coinsurance, deductibles, and benefit caps for enrollees in the program.

17. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, RSMo, that is created under the authority delegated in sections 208.550 to 208.571 shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536, RSMo, and, if applicable, section 536.028, RSMo. Sections 208.550 to 208.571 and chapter 536, RSMo, are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536, RSMo, to review, to delay the effective date or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2002, shall be invalid and void.

18. Any person who knowingly makes any false statements, falsifies or permits to be falsified any records, or engages in conduct in an attempt to defraud the program is guilty of a misdemeanor and shall forfeit all rights to which he or she may be entitled hereunder.

208.559. 1. [The Missouri Senior Rx program shall be operational no later than July 1, 2002.] The division shall accept applications for initial enrollment during an [initial] open enrollment period from [April 1, 2002, through May 30, 2002. Beginning with the enrollment period for fiscal year 2004, open enrollment periods for the program shall be held from] January first through February twenty-eighth of each year. Any current enrollee shall automatically remain in the program unless such enrollee specifically opts out of the program during an open enrollment period. The division may establish procedures for verifying a current enrollee's continued eligibility for the program under section 208.556.

2. A person may apply for participation in the program outside the enrollment periods listed in subsection 1 of this section within thirty days of such person attaining the age and income eligibility requirements of the program established in section 208.556."; and accordingly.

Further amend the title and enacting clause

Senator Foster moved that the above amendment be adopted, which motion prevailed.

Senator Jacob offered SA 2:
